SANCTIONS MUST BE ABANDONED

ITALY'S MESSAGE TO BRITAIN

FRIENDSHIP ORDERED

London, May 28.
Definite assurance that Italy has no aggressive designs upon British interests in the Near East or elsewhere has been conveyed to Mr. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, by Signor Dino Grandi, the Italian Ambassador at the Court of St. James, it is understood.
Signor Grandi also expressed the strong desire of Italy for better relations with Great Britain.
"However, it is believed that the Ambassador's emphasis of that if the League of Nations sanctions are continued Italy cannot take any political initiative with regard to a Mediterranean agreement."
Moreover, if sanctions are not abandoned, Italy would have to consider urgently the question of remaining in the League of Nations, Signor Grandi declared.—Reuter.

ST. LOUIS AGAIN IN LEAD

YANKEES GO AHEAD

New York, May 28.
The New York Giants lost a double-header to Boston to-day and dropped out of the tie with St. Louis at the top of the League. However, St. Louis also lost, so the margin of difference is not great.
Boston's Braves scored the Giants out of both decisions by one run. In the first they scored four to three, on twelve hits. The Giants hit nine times and each team had an error.
In the second Boston hit fourteen, one of them a homer by Berger, but the Giants beat them to five tallies. Moreover, Boston had four errors. But New York was only able to hit seven and scored four runs out of it, including Tipton's homer.
The Cubs trounced Cincinnati eleven to four. Chicago had ten hits, but Hack and Hartnett homered. The Reds hit six.
Brooklyn Dodgers hit twenty and scored thirteen runs, two of them homers by Bordagaray and Bucher, when they played the Phillies. The Phillies, too, were hit from both sides. They smacked out sixteen hits and gained ten runs. J. Moore and Grace hit circuit clouts. There were five errors, the Phillies taking the honours with three.
The St. Louis Cardinals, who undeservedly go into first place again, lost to Pittsburgh seven to two. The Pirates drove them to the tune of fifteen hits. Each had an error.
YANKEES WIN
The Yankees drew further ahead of their nearest League rivals, the Boston Red Sox, by beating them soundly, ten to six. The Yankees scored in eight hits. Boston hit thirteen but could not profit by them. They had two errors.
Hale's homer turned the tables on the unfortunate St. Louis Browns, who were beaten by Cleveland, six to five. St. Louis hit nine to the Indians eight, and Cleveland had three errors.
The Detroit Tigers, last year's champions, were also routed. Chicago beat them six to five, Hayes hitting a homer. Goheen homered for the Tigers. The Sox had thirteen hits.
Washington scored a five to nothing win over the Athletics, hitting seven and allowing only five to the Philadelphia.—Reuter.

Italian Bid For Trade

REORGANISING HER MERCHANT FLEET

Rome, May 28.
Complete reorganization of Italian shipping is contemplated, in which shipping will be put into four grades to connect with world markets.
North and South America will be served by one grade from Genoa, while another will serve Africa and the Far East from Trieste.
The other two groups will be for the European trade.
Shipping lines will be reorganised under Government supervision, in order to eliminate competition. The Government will also increase the subsidies to certain lines.—Reuter Special.

CHIEF OF BRITISH STAFF

General Sir Cyril Deverell is shown arriving at the War Office in London to take up his new duties as now Chief of the Imperial General Staff. He succeeds Field Marshal Sir Archibald Montgomery-Massingberd.

FRENCH STRIKE SPREADS

REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT?

GOVERNMENT CONCERN

Paris, May 28.
The "stay in" strike movement, in which hundreds of workers stay in the factories, with bedding and food brought by their wives and children, but refuse to work, is spreading fast in the engineering works of France.
A number of large firms are affected, notably the Renault factory, largest motor car and war material plant in France, where 3,000 workers are participating in the movement.
M. Albert Sarraut, the Prime Minister, is most concerned with the situation. Many conferences were held to-day at the Ministry of the Interior and at the Presidency.
Hale's homer turned the tables on the unfortunate St. Louis Browns, who were beaten by Cleveland, six to five. St. Louis hit nine to the Indians eight, and Cleveland had three errors.
The Detroit Tigers, last year's champions, were also routed. Chicago beat them six to five, Hayes hitting a homer. Goheen homered for the Tigers. The Sox had thirteen hits.
Washington scored a five to nothing win over the Athletics, hitting seven and allowing only five to the Philadelphia.—Reuter.

FILIPINO FLIERS DEPART

MAY ARRIVE HERE THIS AFTERNOON

Manila, May 28.
The Filipino aviators, Antonio Armat and Juan de Calva took off on the first leg of their flight to Spain at 5 o'clock this morning, turning their machine towards Laeag, Northern Luzon, where they will make their first stop.—United Press.

The fliers will stay at Laeag just long enough to refuel, it is thought, and will then take off for Hongkong. They should be here about 2 p.m.

The flight was at first timed for Wednesday but was delayed in order to allow further tests.

ARAB STRIKE WEAKENING

BUT MOB VIOLENCE CONTINUES

FURTHER TROOPS SENT FROM ALEXANDRIA

Jerusalem, May 28.
While an increasing number of Arab hawkers are in the streets and the half-open Arab shops indicate a decline in the strike, out of which such grave disturbances have arisen, other Arabs are trying to intensify the stoppage of work.
A manifesto, signed by the members of the Arab Students' Committee, has been published at Nablus, calling upon Arab civil servants to strike.
Up to now forty agitators and strike-leaders have been banished to other towns or placed under police surveillance.
Arab journalists have decided to suspend publication of all Arab newspapers, starting to-morrow.
The Seaforth Highlanders were again in action to-day. They were fired on by Arab bands near Jinin. They returned the fire, killing at least two Arabs and wounding four. The regiment suffered no casualties.
There were many disturbances here last night. Police and snipers exchanged numerous shots. There were no casualties as far as is known.—Reuter.

Constable Killed

Jerusalem, May 28.
Rioting Arabs fatally wounded a British constable, a man named Bird, of London, to-day. He was on patrol in the Old City, near the Austrian Hospice.
Meanwhile, British artillery is reported to have fired from Egypt, as the declaration of martial law is anticipated at any moment.
The battleship, Barham, arrived at Haifa to-day. This is the centre of the coastal trouble.

Battalions Move

A battalion of Bedfordshires and another of Hertfordshires, which were stationed in Shanghai in 1927, left Alexandria to-day on route to Jerusalem. Their arrival will raise the total of troops here to six battalions of infantry and a company of light tanks and armoured cars.
The Cameron Highlanders and British and native police skirmished with Arab snipers, hidden in the hills overlooking Jerusalem and the Nablus Road, to-day. However, there were no casualties.
The Walling Wall has never been so deserted day or night in living memory, although an important Jewish festival is in progress. From a near-by temple a weird light fell upon the forsaken place of holiness. Only three venerable Jews bowed singly in prayer because they lacked a quorum of ten necessary for joint prayer.
The oldest worshipper, departing, said he had been praying at the Walling Wall for 65 years. "I cannot halt because of temporary worldly disturbances," he added. "I know the Arabs will not harm a true worshipper."

Numerous Bombings

There were numerous bombings at Haifa, Jaffa and Safed to-day.
Two Arabs were killed and one wounded at the village of Qunata and three were wounded at Silat el Dahr, in clashes with police.
Troops patrolling the Southern Railway dispersed Arabs attempting to dynamite the tracks with a volley. This episode was near Safed.
Groves fringing the Jewish settlement at Achza were set afire by Arab mobs. Others fired on the Nazareth police station, but there were no casualties.—United Press.

OFFICERS DETAINED

London, May 28.
It is officially confirmed that two officers of the British Red Cross unit in Ethiopia have been detained at Direwaba by the Italian authorities, and although they are not in prison they cannot leave the town because their papers, allegedly, are not in order.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

LORD BEATTY'S ESTATE

London, May 28.
The late Earl Beatty left an estate valued at £175,000 it was disclosed to-day.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

Successor To Thomas Appointed

ORMSBY-GORE FOR CABINET

COLONIAL EXPERT

London, May 28.
Mr. W. G. Ormsby-Gore has been appointed Secretary of State for the Colonies, in succession to Mr. J. L. Thomas, who recently resigned from the post following the inquiry into alleged leakage of Budget secrets.
William Arthur Ormsby-Gore, politician and colonial expert, was born in April, 1885, in the village of Lord Harlech, and educated at Eton and New College, Oxford. He was then elected as a Conservative for Denbigh in 1910 and later sat for Stafford. As a left wing Conservative he joined the Social Reform Committee, but a visit to Canada turned his attention to the Dominions and colonies. In 1911 and 1912, he went to S. and E. Africa and Egypt. In 1913 he married Lady Beatrice Cecil, Lord Salisbury's eldest daughter.
During the war he served in the army and had considerable experience in the Near East as an officer in the Arab Bureau in Palestine and Arabia. In 1917-8 he was parliamentary private secretary to Lord Milner and assistant secretary to the War Cabinet. Afterwards returning to Palestine as assistant political officer.

PEACE DELEGATE

In 1919 he was attached to the British delegation to Paris Peace Conference as an expert on the Near East. On returning to the Commons he became a member of an independent group of Conservatives and supported Irish Home Rule. In 1922 he resumed his colonial studies, accompanying his friend Wood (later Lord Irwin) to the West Indies and assisting him to write his report on the Caribbean. He was made Under-Secretary for the Colonies. At the Imperial Conference, of 1923 he represented the colonies, protectorates and mandated territories.

While Labour held office, J. H. Thomas selected him as chairman of the commission to visit and report on the East African colonies. He and his colleagues produced in 1925 a most interesting report urging the need for co-ordination. Meanwhile Ormsby-Gore had in 1925 resumed his post as Under-Secretary in the National Government. In 1929 he made a valuable report on the West African colonies.

He visited Malaya and Ceylon in 1928. In his report he said the prosperity of the rubber industry depended on research rather than on restriction. In the National Government, of 1931 he was Postmaster-General, but in Nov. became First Commissioner of Works. A trustee of the National Gallery, he resigned that post in May 1932, as a protest against Govt. interference with the experts which had led to three resignations, but resumed it in Feb. 1933, in view of the change in policy. In April 1933, he had sharp passages of arms with Churchill and Lloyd George over their attacks on Baldwin. Lloyd George accused him of seeking to avoid military service during the war—a charge which Ormsby-Gore was easily able to disprove.

BUDGET PROBE REPORT

London, May 28.
The Queen Mary has been averaging 28.73 knots per hour up to the present.
The passengers are settling down to enjoy the amenities of the luxury liner.
One correspondent aboard states that the breakfast on the ship is like a banquet. On the menu there is a choice of ten varieties of fruit, fourteen cereals and innumerable other courses.
A stewaway had been found aboard, hidden in a lifeboat. It is a sparrow, and is now in the care of the ship's butcher.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

GRIMSBY TRAWLER ON TREASURE HUNT

Dakar, May 28.
The mystery of the voyage of the Grimsby trawler, Girl Pat, into the south Atlantic ocean, has been solved. The 25-ton ship is on a treasure hunt.
This fact was disclosed by the mate, a man named Stone, who was put ashore ill and who is still in hospital. The ship was visited by the British Consul at Dakar, and the master, Captain George Osborne, was invited to take the ship's papers to the Consulate. The skipper hastily put to sea and left his mate behind.
Stone said the Girl Pat first tried to reach the Salvage Islands and the master intended to hunt treasure there. He is not aware of the master's destination, and all that is known at the moment is that Girl Pat is somewhere in the south Atlantic.
The owners of the vessel are as much in the dark as anyone else. This is Captain Osborne's expedition. He was supposed to go for fish in the North Sea when he left Grimsby on April 2.—Reuter Special.

FORMER RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

The late Mr. R. M. Dyer, C.B.E., M.S., M.I.N.A., former Chief Manager of the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd., whose death occurred at home yesterday.

FORMER RESIDENT PASSES

MR. R. M. DYER DIES AT HOME

SERVICES TO COLONY

Deep regret will be felt throughout the Colony at the news of the death of Mr. R. M. Dyer, C.B.E., B.Sc., M.I.N.A., who for a period of 24 years was Chief Manager of the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd. Intimation of his passing was received in a Reuter cable from London, received this morning.
The late Mr. Dyer, whose wife predeceased him some little time ago, was a native of Glasgow, being a son of the late Professor Dyer, who many years ago came out East on a mission to Japan. One of the most popular members of the local Scottish community, Mr. Dyer was on two occasions President of Hongkong St. Andrew's Society. He particularly interested himself in the Scottish Company of the Volunteer Defence Corps, which he was largely instrumental in raising and equipping, and was a member of the Advisory Committee of the Corps. He also took a prominent part in the movement for the creation of killed Boy Scouts locally.

KEEN SPORTSMAN

Mr. Dyer was identified with many measures of local development, and in addition to his extensive business connections, he served on a number of local committees, including that on the Economic Resources of the Colony. Interested also in educational work, he was a member of the Court of the University of Hongkong.

On the sporting side, Mr. Dyer was the President of the Hongkong Rifle League, Steward of the Jockey Club, a keen supporter of boxing, having been Chairman of the Boxing Association, and was President of the Hongkong Football Association. He was also Chairman of a Hongkong Harbour Advisory Board. He was made a Justice of the Peace in 1913. Mr. Dyer went Home on leave in June, 1932, and retired in September of the same year.

FRIEND OF SERVICES

Mr. Dyer received the C.B.E. decoration in the Birthday Honours in 1930, and at his investiture His Excellency Sir William Peel paid a glowing tribute to his work in the Colony, saying he had always been ready to give his advice and assistance in public affairs, but it was largely for his services in other directions that the honour had been conferred upon him. His kindness to the soldiers and sailors who passed through Hongkong was proverbial, and it would be quite true to say that there were hundreds and thousands of Servicemen scattered throughout the Empire who looked back with feelings of gratitude and thankfulness to the kindness they had received from the hands of both Mr. and Mrs. Dyer.
The General Officer Commanding and the Admiral were also full of appreciation for the services rendered by Mr. Dyer on behalf of the Services.

"THERE IS NO JUSTICE IN SPAIN"

PRIMO DE RIVERA IMPRISONED

STARTS RIOT IN COURT

Madrid, May 28.
Senor Primo de Rivera, son of the late Dictator of Spain and leader of the Fascist party, has been sentenced to five months' imprisonment for attending an unlawful assembly and for possession of arms.
When sentence was passed, Senor de Rivera, who conducted his own case, tore off his lawyer's hat and gown, and shouted:
"There is no justice in Spain!"
Fascist sympathisers created an uproar and police arrested 37.—Reuter Special.

"UP SPAIN!"

Madrid, May 28.
Senor Primo de Rivera, son of the late Loyalist Dictator, was sentenced to five months' imprisonment to-day for the illegal possession of arms. He played the courtroom of the new model prison here into an uproar when he shouted the Fascist war cry, "Up Spain!"
Members of his family and several women joined the shout.
The President of the Court ordered the place cleared, whereupon Senor de Rivera leaped on the table, shouted insults at his judges, hurled his barrister's bonnet at the President, removed his gown and tore it up and trampled on it, all the while shouting "Up Spain!" He said the magistracy was rotten and that the judges were dogs.
He stamped along the presidential dais, kicking the magistrates' bench, and swept a pile of papers from the bench to the floor. He threw a statuette across the room.
Police finally restored order, arresting several of the Fascist leader's friends and followers. The shouts of the riot spread to the cells, numerous Fascist inmates began demonstrations of sympathy.—United Press.

ISOLATION THREAT TO HONGKONG

HIT BY NEW AIR AGREEMENT?

Hongkong, as a result of latest development in the "war" for supremacy in aviation in the Pacific, may find itself totally isolated in the near future.
It is quite possible that, despite enormous developments that are taking place in aviation in the Far East, Hongkong may be served by only Imperial Airways.
The Special Representative of the Telegraph, in an exclusive article on Page 7, believes that negotiations at present proceeding in Hongkong between Mr. H. M. Birt, Far Eastern Representative of Pan-American Airways, and a representative of Chinese National Aviation Corporation will culminate in an agreement between the two Companies which will have the effect of excluding Hongkong from consideration as an airport necessary to their services.
The writer understands that, under the terms of the agreement, C.N.A.C. will provide feeder services from Macao to China and Hainan. The latter service would allow passengers to travel from America to Europe, via the Pacific, without coming any nearer to Hongkong than Macao. Franco's Air Orient Company already maintains a regular service between Hanoi and Marseilles.
It is stated that, in 1934 C.N.A.C. applied for permission to land at Kai Tak airport, but were informed that such permission could not be granted until reciprocal arrangements were made whereby British planes could land in China.
Pan-American Airways have a minority financial interest in C.N.A.C. Full Story on Page 7.

ABOLISHING SENATE

Dublin, May 28.
Mr. Eamon De Valera's motion to abolish the Irish Free State Senate was carried in the Dail to-day, 74 to 62.
Mr. De Valera said he hoped to produce a measure outlining the new constitution in the autumn.—Reuter.

5,000 Miles Of Illegal Line

RAILWAY THAT HAS NO POWER TO RUN TRAINS

For the better part of a century the Victorian Government Railways, Australia, have been operating to the entire satisfaction of the public.

The system has nearly 5,000 route miles of line, some of the "crack" expresses and longest freight trains of the whole continent, and the first air-conditioned coaches in the Empire.

Yet there is not, nor ever has been any statutory power to run a single train or truck. This has just been discovered, says Austral News.

Officials, however, are quite unconcerned. If they have no power to run trains, no one has the power to stop them, so normal schedules are being continued until the act of parliament is amended.

Colony For Opponents Of Regime

Moscow, May 18. The territory of Naryn, northwest Siberia, in which hundreds of the present ruling group in Soviet Russia, including Joseph Stalin, spent years of exile before the revolution, has been converted by these former exiles into an exile colony for settling opponents of their own regime.

Under the Tsars, Naryn, which is equal in size to Czechoslovakia, Austria and Switzerland, was described as a "gigantic prison for revolutionaries." The Communists, multiplying the number of exiles, insist that their purposes and results are very different.

Especially since 1930, when the Communist dictatorship declared open warfare upon peasants resisting collectivization, this remote and difficult region has received hundreds of thousands of dispossessed peasants and their families, who were herded together and shipped in cattle cars from their former homes in the Ukraine on North Caucasus into the north.

A glowing picture of the "colossal economic and cultural development" of Naryn by these exiles, working under the allegedly benevolent direction of the political police, has been portrayed by several recent articles in the Soviet press.

The mass nature of exile under the Communists is revealed by the disclosure that whereas in 1917 there was only one inhabitant to every 20 kilometres in Naryn, the population has since grown 14 times. Most of these settlers admittedly did not move into Naryn voluntarily.

The chief of the Naryn political police, under the Commissariat of Home Affairs, I. I. Dolgikh, explained that "by moving dispossessed kulaks to such regions, our Government has not only cleared the collectivized regions of kulak weeds, but also has taught these former exploiters to work, utilizing them for the benefit of socialist construction, for the mastery of some of our richest regions."

RIGHTS WITH RESTRAINTS

Mr. Dolgikh declared that exiles were told that "if they ceased to struggle against the Soviet power, and proved themselves to be conscientious workers all civil rights would be restored to them at the end of five years." He added that many have regained civil rights, and restoration of citizenship to many others has been recommended. He did not mention, however, that a decree was issued in January, 1935, which forbade former kulaks to leave regions to which they had been exiled.

The Soviet press reports that the exiled peasants, who frequently resisted collectivization because they were the most successful and energetic peasants in their districts, have developed Naryn's agriculture with remarkable rapidity. About 80 per cent. have formed collective farms, although Mr. Dolgikh insists they were not compelled to do so.

MANY ROADS BUILT

In five years, reported Mr. Dolgikh, the exiles have built 3,185 kilometres of dirt roads through the wilderness, suitable for motor traffic. Surveys have been made for another 8,000 kilometres of roads, and construction of a canal has been planned to unite the Ob and Irtysh rivers, making it possible to transport Naryn timber to the Ural industrial centres and to Kazakhstan. The third five-year plan (1937-42) provides for a railway connecting Naryn with the trans-Siberian system.

The Soviet press describes Naryn as potentially one of the richest regions in Russia. About 80 per cent. of its surface is covered with dense forests, large deposits of coal have been found, and indications of petroleum, gold and other minerals. The exiles engage largely in hunting and timber-cutting during the long winters.

Universal elementary education has been provided for the children of Naryn exiles since 1931, the press asserts. During the past three years 236 schools have been built by the exiles themselves, and institutes have been organized to teach tractor-driving, livestock breeding and land drainage. Workers' clubs have been provided in many places, with dramatic, art and other "circles."

The use of the traditional Russian method of mass exile to develop Naryn and other remote regions is one of the most striking features of the Soviet regime; it has been estimated that one person in 17 is still working under some such form of state control. The Communists justify the system on the grounds that it permits them simultaneously to dispose of their enemies and to develop Russia's vast pioneer regions swiftly and cheaply, and at the same time to "create new people, conscious builders of socialism."

English Wife And Indian Millionaire

Husband's Counter-Charges

Calcutta, May 20. COUNTER - ALLEGATIONS are being made by a Hindu barrister against his English wife, formerly a stage dancer, who is asking the court at Khulna, Bengal, to annul the marriage on the ground that her husband did not disclose that he already had a Hindu wife.

The English wife, Mrs. Marion Mitter, aged 29 (formerly Miss Marion Fuller, of Darlington), has also filed a maintenance suit before a Calcutta magistrate alleging that her husband, Mr. J. P. Mitter, thrashed her mercilessly and that she was forced to leave his house in July last year.

Mr. Mitter denies her allegations and alleges that she was unduly friendly with a leading Calcutta Indian barrister and an Indian millionaire business man.

Mr. Mitter was a Cambridge undergraduate and went through a form of marriage with Miss Fuller

Russian Women Are To Make-Up And Dress Better

—BY ORDER
Warsaw, May 18. Mme. Molotov, wife of the President of the Council of Peoples' Commissars and dictator of Soviet fashions, is packing her trunks for Paris.

She started the preparations after a Moscow conference of delegates of the Soviet women's organisations. This conference decided that Russian women should dress better, make-up, and be prettier, in fact that sex appeal, hitherto banned, was to come into its own again.

Mme. Molotov will search in Paris for aids to improve her country-women with the help of French beauty culture, fashion and cosmetic experts.

She may take some of these experts back with her to Moscow to instruct Russian women in the feminine fine arts.

ROYALTY COSTS MUCH LESS

How King Edward Aids Britain's Treasury

PROVISION FOR THE KING'S MARRIAGE

Duke Of York's Extra £25,000

AN annual saving on the Royal Civil List of £155,900 is assured as long as the King remains unmarried, according to the report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons which considered the matter.

This is partly because the King is retaining for his privy the revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall, and not drawing £70,000 provided for in the Civil List.

The King also wishes to provide out of the Duchy revenues the extra £25,000 annuity recommended for the Duke of York in view of his heavier duties as heir presumptive.

The total of the list is £410,000, compared with £470,000 proposed for King George in 1910.

The allocations made by the committee are:

	1910	1936
Privy Purse	110,000	110,000
Household salaries and retired allowances	125,000	134,000
Household expenses	193,000	152,800
Works	20,000	Abolished
Royal bounty, alms, and special services	13,200	13,200
Unappropriated	8,000	Abolished
	£470,000	£410,000

The committee further recommends that, should the Duke of York die while heir presumptive, the £25,000 annuity should be continued in trust for the duchess and the surviving children as long as there is no heir apparent.

FUTURE QUEEN'S £40,000

It is proposed that, in the event of the King marrying, the future Queen shall be provided with £40,000 (£7,000 for her personal staff).

If a Duke of Cornwall is born, £25,000 should be set aside out of the Duchy revenues for his maintenance and education and for the payment of an annual sum (not less than £10,000) to trustees to be accumulated to provide for his future wife.

The committee mentions that the provision of £700,000 made for Queen Mary in 1910 to take effect on the death of King George now becomes operative.

SOCIALIST PROPOSAL

Mr. C. R. Attlee, one of the five Socialist members on the committee, proposed that, as the King, as Duke of Lancaster, received "a large and increasing annual payment" from the revenues of the Duchy, it was desirable that the principle already applied to the bulk of the Crown lands should now be extended to the Duchy of Lancaster and that its revenues should in future be surrendered to the Exchequer.

In return for the surrender he recommended that the amount payable annually to the privy purse.

The proposal was defeated by 13 votes to 5.

Protection From Reckless Car-Drivers

MOTOR ACCIDENTS

San Francisco, May 24. Colonies for the protection of aged persons from reckless automobile drivers are advocated by Thomas Bell, retired engineer.

Bell said he expected to organize the entire nation in support of his project. He plans to establish small communities throughout the country, and to prohibit automobiles from being used on the streets of these towns; in which residence would be restricted to persons over 60.

"Most of the people being killed by autos are old people," Bell said. "The only way to save their lives is to keep them away from automobiles. You can't keep the autos away from them."

In addition to working on the earliest settlement plan, Bell also is devoting his attention to an Old Age pension plan, which he believes is far superior to that of Dr. Francis Townsend.

Bell hopes to obtain the support of organizations to raise funds to pay all persons 50 years of age $50 a month; this amount to be reduced one dollar each succeeding year. A surplus expected to be accumulated would be used to pay a sum of $5,000 to 400 persons each year. This would go to those persons whose monthly stipend had been reduced to a point where it was not sufficient to support them and women past 60.

Bell does not believe this is a serious problem, however, as he thinks most of the very aged persons would be in his autoless colonies anyway.

He admitted that all financial details had not been worked out completely.

MANILA FORMS '37 EUCHARISTIC SESSION PLANS

MASSES WILL BE CELEBRATED IN STADIUM AND PARK NEAR BAY

Manila, May 18. Thousands of devout Catholics who converge on Manila for the 33rd International Eucharistic Congress, Feb. 3-7, 1937, will witness a unique celebration of the biennial communion.

Manila, capital of the only Christian nation in the Far East, will be the scene of the first such Congress to be held in the Orient and more than 11,000,000 Catholics in the Islands, comprising 82 per cent. of the population, propose to make it an occasion which visiting pilgrims will remember.

Plans include huge open-air masses to be celebrated at the Luneta, a large public park facing Manila Bay, and meetings of ranking church dignitaries in the Cathedral of Manila, largest of Manila's churches and scene of religious services for more than three-quarters of a century.

STADIUM SEATS 30,000. Open-air activities also will be held in the new Jose Rizal Memorial Stadium, seating 30,000 persons.

One trans-Pacific liner, the Empress of Russia, already has been chartered to serve as floating hotel to be docked near the Luneta for accommodation of pilgrims.

Parochial Eucharistic Congresses have been held in provincial towns for several months to quicken the ardour of the Filipino people in preparation for the solemn celebration.

The provincial celebrations begin on Friday with the vigorous ringing of church bells and with solemn Mass; and end with a colourful procession at dusk Sunday in which each worshipper carries a lighted candle.

SPECIAL STAMP PROPOSED. His Grace, Michael O'Doherty, Archbishop of Manila and sponsor of the Congress, is in charge of preparations for the event. Negotiations with the bureau of posts for the issuance of special stamps have been begun. A medal will be struck depicting Ferdinand Magellan celebrating the first mass after he discovered the islands in 1521. A special shield also has been created.

A huge cross made from flags from every nation will mark the centre of the celebration on the Luneta.

The first Eucharistic Congress was held in 1881 at Lille in northern France. It was intended to be a local celebration but it aroused such enthusiasm that the idea spread.

Since then the church has sponsored international congresses at intervals of approximately two years. The last one was held in Buenos Aires in 1924.

WEAK LINKS IN BIG CHAIN OF DEFENCE

Can Unarmed Zones Last?

Germany has rearm the Rhineland. Turkey proposes to rearm the Straits. The question arises whether demilitarised and neutralised zones elsewhere can be preserved. These zones exist at many points as shock absorbers between countries that have clashed in the past.

Some of the zones are designed to protect the independence of small states. Others safeguard waterways of international importance.

Not all the neutralised zones are disarmed. The following resume gives principal neutralised and demilitarised zones, by continents:

EUROPE Neutralised

Switzerland, by Congress of Vienna, 1815. Neutrality since reaffirmed. Held compatible with League of Nations membership in Switzerland's case. No disarmament.

Belgium, 1839, powers affirm neutrality without disarmament, after Belgium won independence from the Netherlands. German troops violated neutrality in 1914. After war, neutrality of Belgium abolished by Versailles Treaty.

Luxemburg, 1867, neutralised and disarmed by powers. Germany in 1914 violated neutrality. Versailles Treaty abolished neutrality and disarmament.

Aaland Islands, 1856, Russia forbidden to fortify islands, but did so in World War. Germany took them. Treaty of Brast-Litovsk provided that Russia dismantle fortifications. Neutralisation favoured in Paris Peace Conference, 1919, and consecrated in League settlement, 1921, of dispute between Sweden and Finland Islands also demilitarised.

Spitsbergen, 1919, neutralised and demilitarised by allied powers. Danzig, 1920-21, neutralised and demilitarised unless League of Nations permits arming.

Norway-Sweden, frontier zone, 1905, neutralised and demilitarised.

Demilitarised

Rhineland, islands of Heligoland and Dune, Baltic coastal areas. By Treaty of Versailles, 1919. German territory. Last named ensured free passage into Baltic to all nations.

Bosphorus, Sea of Marmara and the Dardanelles. By Lausanne Straits Convention, 1923, no naval bases except one at Constantinople (Istanbul); no troops in straits, except 12,000 at Constantinople. Thracian Boundary. Lausanne Convention of 1923 limits troops in zone 30 kilometres wide on both sides of border of Turkey with Greece and Bulgaria. Turkish troops, 5,000. Greek and Bulgarian, 2,500 each.

Lakes Pelpus and Paker, on new frontier of independent Estonia, demilitarised. Treaty of 1920.

Lake Ladoga, on frontier of Finland. Troops prohibited along Russo-Finnish border. Treaty of 1920.

AMERICA Neutralised

Panama Canal, by Hay-Pauncefote Treaty of 1901 with Great Britain, and by treaty with Panama, 1903. Other powers not bound to respect neutrality. United States keeps right to fortify and defend canal.

Straits of Magellan, 1881. Chile and Argentina treaty. (Also demilitarised.)

Demilitarised

Great Lakes and Lake Champlain, treaty of 1817 between Britain and United States. Number, size and armament of naval vessels limited.

AFRICA Neutralised

Suez Canal, by Convention of 1848 between Great Britain, Germany, Austria, Spain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Russia and Turkey. British reservations until 1901. Neutrality broken by Britain in closing canal to Spain in Spanish-American War, 1898. Canal closed to Central Powers in World War.

Demilitarised

Straits of Gibraltar, 1861, Anglo-French declaration that Mediterranean coast Morocco and Tangier was to be unfortified except for Spanish presidios. Reaffirmed in Franco-Spanish accord of 1912.

ASIA Demilitarised

Sakhalin Island, Treaty of Portsmouth between Japan and Russia, 1905.

WHAT THE WORLD IS DOING, THINKING, SAYING

NEWS THROUGH THE U.P. PERISCOPE

San Francisco, May 24.

Scanning the horizon with a late-model flexible News-o-scope brings to light some odd happenings that might be worth a second glance.

First activity is indicated at Conling, Calif., where 'tis said A. R. Brower had ants in his pants, his shoes, his food, his bed. In fact they were getting into his hair when an idea struck him. He traced the ants' stronghold to a sandhill near his house and set about forcing them to evacuate. So he filled all the holes he could find with gasoline. And for good measure spread it along the carious trails the pests had made. Then he set fire to it. When the carpenters started rebuilding Brower's fire-scarred house the ants resumed activities, too.

For a week accountants struggled to balance the books. There was a shortage of 6 cents. Finally experts called in from San Francisco accidentally dislodged a fly's crooked leg from what appeared to be a "7" revealing the numeral actually was a "11".

NAMES! NAMES! NAMES!

It must have been the name: University of Washington students at Seattle have elected Nathan Washington, fifth generation nephew of George Washington, as student body president for next year. Theme song of his supporters was the Husky hymn "Victory for Washington."

On the other hand—Jesse James, 64, charged with disorderly conduct was fined $5 in Municipal court, Pontiac, Mich.

Milan, Italy—Alfredo Granel, a merchant, liked the name Concello so well that he gave it to all of his seven sons. The confusion was sufficiently trying while they were in school, but it has become much worse.

since the boys are grown. Concello Granel, 27, was recently hard pressed to prove to a court that it was Concello Granel, 24, who committed the embezzlement with which he was charged.

THINGS MARITAL

Baked beans may be all right for Saturday night supper, but when served for breakfast, lunch and dinner every day for weeks at a time—well, that's cruelty.

So testified Stanley K. Horton, Gloucester (Mass.), auto dealer in winning a divorce.

Testimony by Morris J. Oberly, of Detroit, (Mich.), that he was tired of buying his wife, Ella, new clothes to replace those she had lost in strip poker games won a divorce suit before Judge Henry G. Nicol. Presenting the ladies' side of the question—Mrs. Louis Christensen, Dedham, Mass., in seeking a divorce charged—among other things—that her husband blacked her eyes, blacked her father's eyes, refused to let her go to church, spanked her, threw butter on the floor and rubbed her nose in it, and always found fault with her cooking. Chris is contesting.

CRIME STORY

Bechtelbottom, W. Va.—A burglar worked several hours jimmying a door to a factory storeroom. Millworkers found him perisping in an empty room—vacated several weeks before.

SUCCESS STORY

NEW YORK—Charles M. Schwab, steel millionaire, gave some advice to young men recently while a valet made him comfortable for a trip to well that he gave it to all of his. Had Naubelm in a double stateroom on the S. S. Europa. It was: "Don't strive for riches; they mean nothing!" —United Press.

CORRESPONDENCE

(To The Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.)

Sir,—It is very gratifying to know that the Legislative Council has ultimately passed the Bill to amend the Female Domestic Service Ordinance, 1923. This apparently is the first drastic step taken by the Government to wipe out the mui-tai system in Hongkong. The mui-tai system, which is nothing but a slave system in a modified form, is one of the greatest evils in Chinese social life. Such immoral system should have been abolished in the Colony long ago, as the British Government since the days of Wilberforce has never tolerated slavery or anything akin to slavery within the British Empire. The Chinese members of the Council, contrary to true Chinese sentiment, recklessly opposed the passing of the Bill. They contended that, inter alia, the proposed amendments would fall more heavily on visitors bringing mui-tai to the Colony than on residents possessing mui-tai therein, because such visitors were ignorant of the local law. What a weak plea to put forward by Council members who themselves are lawyers by profession. Have our Chinese representatives overlooked the maxim "Ignorantia legis non excusat". Make punishment fit the crime, and there is no more deterrent and sifter punishment for one who ill-treats a mui-tai than imprisonment!

By the way, the Chinese members of the Council must have considerably disappointed the members of the mui-tai Commission who were present to hear the reading and passing of the Bill. On the other hand, the Chinese community in general should be very grateful to His Excellency the Governor for his strong support for the passing of the Bill. If His Excellency succeeded in abolishing the mui-tai system in Hongkong before the expiration of his term of office, however drastic and deterrent measures or steps he may see fit to adopt, he will have accomplished one of the noblest of deeds as Governor and performed one of the kindest acts to humanity.

CINEMA NOTES

An event of some importance takes place at the King's and Alhambra Theatres to-day with the production of Dostoevsky's famous novel, "Crime and Punishment," goes on view here. Edward Arnold plays the starring role, that of the Police Inspector. Peter Lorre is seen as Raskolnikov, the murderer. Under the direction of Josef Von Sternberg, who has innumerable hits to his credit and is generally considered one of Hollywood's outstanding directors, the film promises much in the way of entertainment. This is Arnold's second starring picture. His first was the popular "Diamond Jim." He has mounted to stellar heights in a comparatively short time, only having been in talking for about four years. "The Great Key," "Richieu," "Wednesday's Child" and "Million Dollar Ransom" are a few of his later productions. As for Peter Lorre, he is the sensational star of "M," the European film of a few years ago. Since his fearsome characterization in that picture, his screen roles in "The Man Who Knew Too Much" and "Mad Love" have been confined to those of a sinister nature. However, in "Crime and Punishment," he is seen in an altogether sympathetic light. Marjorie Marsh, a young lady who has been making decided headway against the Hollywood tide, plays the leading feminine role. Others include, Talia Burch, Robert Allen, Elizabeth Hinton, Douglas Dumbrille, Gene Lockhart and Mrs. Patrick Campbell.

"Colleen"

"Colleen" which opens to-day at the Queen's Theatre, is a rollicking musical comedy with an all-star cast including Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, Jack Oakie, Joan Blondell, Hugh Herbert, Louise Fazenda and Paul Draper. The story, written by Robert Lord, is packed with rollicking comedy, romance and a touch of real drama. There is more of a plot than in the ordinary musical and concerns the efforts of Powell to straighten out the business affairs of his wealthy and eccentric uncle, as well as his love scrapes. Incidentally Dick and Miss Keeler go in for some romancing and are all tied up in a score of hilarious entanglements, which are eventually straightened out in a smashing climax. Two mammoth and spectacular numbers were created and staged by Bobby Connolly with scenes of beautiful chorus girls. One takes place on an ocean liner, specially built for the picture and the other in a modiste shop in which is presented a gorgeous fashion show. The settings are not only unique and unusual, but exceptionally beautiful, displaying new designs of glass and streamline furniture, as well as the latest mode in gowns. There are three songs written for the production by Harry Warren and Al Dubin, ace team of song writers of Broadway and Hollywood. Miss Keeler has a winsome, wistful personality that everyone falls in love with. She also gives an exhibition of exceptional tap dancing, particularly an interpretative dance, a love lyric without words, which she and that wizard of stage dancing, Paul Draper, do together. "Colleen" is the latter's first film, incidentally he having been engaged specifically to dance in the film. His work with his feet is really exceptional.

"Milky Way"

Harold Lloyd is up to new tricks in "The Milky Way" which will be shown at the Oriental Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The spectacular farceur is as always inimitable. As a timid milkman who is pushed into fistic fame when he duels the blows of the middle-weight champion in a brawl, Lloyd gives everybody a splendidly hilarious time. Two fierce pugilists proceed to try to knock the comedian's block off. In the assortment footwork that Lloyd uses to escape every dance step is introduced from the tribal dances of ancient aborigines to the bubble-chasing flutters of Sally Rand. "The Milky Way" is insanely merry. It is guaranteed to give every funny-bone a good workout. The gags in this Paramount picture are irresistible. Fine work is done by the supporting cast, which is composed of Adolphe Menjou, Verree Teasdale, Helen Mack, William Gargan, Dorothy Wilson and Lionel Stander.

"So Red the Rose" is the star and Randolph Scott is her leading man in the Paramount dramatization of the Stark Young novel, "So Red the Rose," coming to-day to the Star Theatre. Adapted to the screen by two distinguished playwrights, Lawrence Stallings and Edwin Justus Mayer, "So Red the Rose," tells the story of the old South when the War between the States divided loyalties and inflamed souls. In the novel, which the screen play follows with integrity, Mr. Young captured not only the emotional stress and excitement of wartime, but also the romantic spirit and courage of the South. Miss Sullivan plays the part of a headstrong Southern girl whose love for a childhood sweetheart is turned to scorn when he refuses to heed the need of his people. He is neither callous nor afraid but he does not believe in War and, because of these principles, is forced to alone among his own family and friends. In addition to Miss Sullivan and Randolph Scott, who play the leading roles, "So Red the Rose," also features several outstanding character actors and actresses, namely Walter Connolly, Janet Beecher and Elizabeth Patterson.

"Boulder Dam" a Warner Bros. production heralded as a drama of thrilling action, heroic deeds and glamorous romance, is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Queen's Theatre shortly. The picture is based on Don M. Campbell's story of the building of this mighty project, and the lives of the dare-devil workmen who blasted their way through solid rock and sealed the walls hundreds of feet above the river, is painted in the picture in colorful detail. The picture is illumined by song numbers written by the famous team of Mort Dixon and Alio Weibel and sung by Patricia Ellis. Ross Alexander portrays a shirking, disgruntled mechanic in a mid-West garage. In a flat fight with his boss, the latter is killed by a fall, and the mechanic flees. He lands at Las Vegas, where the Dam was being built. In a dance hall and cafe he is about to be ejected as a tramp when Patricia Ellis in the role of a singer at the club, intervenes, buys him food and takes him to her home, where he is welcomed by her kindly family. Lyle Talbot, in the "heavy" role, is in love with the girl and also knows of his successful rival's past. He gives Ross twenty-four hours to quit the town, but on that last day an incident occurs which changed the whole aspect of the situation and brings the picture to a close in a smashing climax. There is a strong supporting cast which includes Eddie Acuff, Henry O'Neill, Egon Brecher, Eleanor Vessellhoef, Joseph Graham, Olin Howland, William Pawley, Ronnie Cosby and George Brekston.

When the mere name or sight of food nauseates you, it is a sure sign that your digestive organs are not functioning properly. Almost surely the eliminative tract has become congested with waste material, which condition, in turn, upsets the liver, and 'liverishness' has resulted.

IMPRISONMENT

Chinese opposition, expressed in the Legislative Council on Wednesday, against the increased powers being given to magistrates to impose imprisonment without the option of a fine for certain mui-tai offences, would not appear to rest on very convincing grounds. The Attorney General got down to bedrock when he pointed out that there is no intention that imprisonment should be inflicted in every case of breach of the Ordinance or regulations, magistrates being merely given the power to impose prison sentences in instances where they consider that the offence justifies such a step. The extreme solicitude shown by the dissenters for visitors to the Colony who might be ignorant of the law was somewhat surprising; obviously, the law cannot take account of such ignorance. Maybe the opposition to the strengthening of the law rests more on the possible creation of a state of alarm amongst the local Chinese populace; if that be so, fears might be mollified somewhat if a period of grace, say one or two months, were given before the new powers are put into operation. However, it is not to be assumed that there will be unduly stringent application of the law right away. None the less, it is essential that registration requirements, on which the whole case for eventual abolition of the mui-tai system rests, should be fully enforced. It is somewhat of a coincidence that this question of imprisonment powers should come to the fore at a moment when our gaols are already overcrowded with prisoners, so much so that men undergoing sentences are being released almost daily before the expiration of their terms. This raises once again the general problem of the overcrowding of the Colony's prisons. It is clear that the main cause of this overcrowding is to be found in the constant sending of people to prison for minor, and really non-criminal, offences. Viewed from whatever standpoint, this practice is wholly unjustified; apart from other considerations, such as first offences, it is a most uneconomic business, involving the Colony in considerable cost, besides bringing the operation of the law into disrepute. Another aspect of the question is to be found in the constant re-committal to gaol of returned banished, who obviously have

LASZLO SCHWARTZ, Hungarian Caricaturist who has been writing a series of articles on humour for the "Telegraph" discovers that there's even

Humour in the Hongkong Ship-Owner's Lair

Mr. S. T. WILLIAMSON was his victim for to-day's article.

SOME day a benefactor of humanity will arrange an International Olympiad of Humour and if that blessed event should come to pass, I would risk all my money plus the buttons off my pyjamas that the seaman's funny yarns will take first prize.

If they should win the second prize against overwhelming Jewish competition, it will be only because most of the humorous sea stories are too strongly salted for general public consumption.

They can be purged, purified and disinfected of course—but if you do that they will be as void of spray, spice and bubbles of humour as a honeymoon trip would be without champagne and a bride.

I am still to meet the man connected with the sea who can't storge a splendid repertoire of stories full of grins and groaning laughs. And salt, of course. Plenty of salt and spices. Spices gathered from all corners of the world including Mandalay, Nome and the Solomon Islands.

NOTES OF THE DAY

Signor Mussolini is anxious for a rapprochement with Great Britain, so he says, but he is unwilling, or unable, to take the initiative in seeking a Mediterranean understanding as long as sanctions continue. Such a move might entail a technical admission of the justice of sanctions; and, in spite of everything, Signor Mussolini is unlikely to admit that the League of Nations action in penalising an aggressor was warranted. In fact, he probably does not consider Italy an aggressor nation. Il Duce says that Britain must remove her warships from the Mediterranean before he removes his garrisons from Libya, for the presence of a British fleet in these waters is looked upon as a threat to Italy. Italy seems to forget that the British fleet commenced to concentrate in force only after Italy had started a war of conquest in country bordering upon three large and important British territories and the Empire's vital trade route to the Far East. Italy forgets, or perhaps never realised, that the movement to the Mediterranean was defensive, that it has never been anything else; and that if the effect of the British Fleet's presence is anxiety in Italy, it is for Rome to remove the cause. Verbal assurances, moreover, do not convince anybody that their toes are not going to be stepped upon; for such things can happen by accident. It is still Signor Mussolini's move.

no fear of such punishment. If these people are to be kept out of the Colony, more effective means than periodically clapping them into prison will have to be found, as one of our magistrates pointed out a few days ago. There is, of course, a bigger issue involved in this matter, namely, the whole question of our banishment laws. But whatever the solution of these several points may be, it is perfectly clear that our prisons are being needlessly cluttered up with people who ought never to be in gaol at all. The whole problem, in all its ramifications, needs thoroughgoing investigation.

LITTLE wonder that I wend my way to Mr. S. T. Williamson's office full of 'ope and 'ilarity for something connected with ships and the sea. Fortunately I only had to make a drawing of his fine, massive head, and not his still more massive figure, for that would have gone hard on the Telegraph's paper supply. When I asked him for a bit of waterside humour he winked his eye and answered: "Little cargo, little humour. Much cargo, much humour. Nowadays we haven't much cause for hilarity; for things are quiet in shipping and even some of the little cargo we carry changes overnight during transit." He chuckled—I didn't. If ever anyone gave a professional humorist a knock-out blow with the first whack, I was certainly that floored victim. When he saw my puzzled expression Mr. Williamson explained: "You see we carry hundreds of baskets of eggs from Swatow his head sadly and said: "No; I only 170 miles away, but by the haven't had one since 1907. You time the shipment reaches here see, I worked for a company many of them have hatched and then which allowed us only two bottles of whiskey a day. I "Have the Chinese sailors as drank three and they fired me." That story sort of started him off, and ever since I recovered from the hysterics he sent me come across a Chinese yet, sailor, into, I made up my mind to call tailor or undertaker, who didn't every Hongkong physician's attention to this genius among things with a good laugh. And laugh-makers. Namely, when even when they curse one—the doctors give up all hope of curing their patients suffering from nervous breakdown, in-at but his honourable long deceased ancestors."

AT this point in came Mr. Nellie Lang, frae Dumbarton—and you can still recognise it after thirty odd years in the East—one of Mr. Williamson's senior Chief Engineers, who is one of the greatest living storehouses of sea yarns in the East. When I suggested that we swap stories, he told me he had to be in the right mood—"sort of inspired." I suggested may cause epilepsy and sudden alcoholic sources, but he shook death!

A BEACON ACROSS AN OCEAN

THE beam direction-finder which will guide Pan-American planes across the China Sea from Manila to Macao is ready.

THE secret of the regular flight of the "Clipper" machines across 8,000 miles of the Pacific Ocean from California to Manila with air mails each week lies in the invention of the radio compass.

This instrument, which guards an aircraft from the dangers of drifting off its course while flying over the ocean, is destined to play a big part in the development of trans-Pacific aviation.

The radio compass is an instrument which is able to pick up bearings by wireless from distant stations. The stations give a bearing which helps to guide the pilot to his objective.

Hitherto ocean flyers have had to rely on celestial navigation—a difficult matter when flying at high speeds—radio communication with aircraft and vessels, and the sighting of ships at sea.

CELESTIAL observation obviously depends on a clear sky to

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"Any other man would pad that enough to take care of his wife's expenses, and not make the boss think he was such a small timer."

take a "fix" from the sun or stars. Radio-telephony is limited by the radius of the receiving set in the aircraft or of the station, and sighting of ships at sea is a chance method of checking position.

The radio compass solves all these difficulties.

In order to use it the pilot uses his wireless receiver to pick up the desired station. Any station sending out frequent signals can become the objective. The pilot tunes in until volume is at the maximum. Then he has merely to watch a needle on his instrument board which points to zero.

If the machine veers off its course the needle moves accordingly and provides a warning.

The pilot then corrects his course until the needle is back at zero. The machine will go directly to the radio station.

The apparatus can be adjusted to compensate for drift.

During the tests particular attention was paid to the range of reception; reception by day and night; at high altitudes; in clear air; and in fog and rain.

The radio compass is also able to pick up shore stations for bearings to determine the exact position of the aircraft.

OVER thousands of miles of ocean where beam winds, which may change during the flight, are experienced, drift cannot be checked by reference to charts. Cross bearings cannot be taken as no land stations are near enough.

Such flights as that of Uln from California to Hawaii might not have ended in disaster had the machine been fitted with a radio compass.

The ocean stages of the Pacific route require a radio range of anything up to 1,800 miles. The powerful radio stations at Hawaii, Midway, Wake, the Guam Islands, Manila and Macao will enable the "Clipper" to face great ocean journeys without any risk of being blown off her course.

HOLIDAY CARNIVAL OF NINETEEN EVENTS

(By "Captain Foster")

The Whitsun Carnival, which is a two days' affair, will be the last meeting of the first half of the Hongkong Jockey Club's fixtures, but racing will be resumed after the recess in September. The first saddling bell will be rung to-morrow at 1.30 p.m., but on Whit-Monday the bell will be chimed at noon and the third event, Bondi Handicap for "A" class Australian Ponies, will be run at 2.30 p.m. There are nine races on the first day and ten on Monday.

Before commenting on the prospects of various ponies, I append below a list of the successes of the first five local jockeys since January 1:

	1st	2nd	3rd
Mr. H. C. Pih	14	10	9
Mr. L. G. Frost	11	8	5
Mr. D. Black	10	15	9
Mr. N. Deltz	9	8	5
Mr. P. P. Hotello	8	5	5

Mr. Lee Frost is a "lame duck" and with regret, we have to leave him out of the ranking. It will be seen that Mr. Pih heads the list with 14 wins, his nearest rival being Mr. Black with 10 races to his credit. While Mr. Deltz is just behind him, it would be interesting to any racing fan could predict what the position of the above mentioned jockeys would be after Whit-Monday. Mr. Pih has a good lead and it is not likely that he will lose his position.

With the absence of Able Amazon, Strathroy and Liberty Bay from the meeting, we may look forward to better finishes in the major events; in any case there is no denying that the first half of the racing season has had its thrills.

MY FANCY IS ROYAL SCOT

FOR THE OPENING EVENT

King's Warden holds the post of honour with 168 lbs. in the opening event, the May Handicap, and then comes Royal Scot with 10 lbs. less. The weight assigned was not forgotten for the science of numbers for Royal Scot, the winner of St. George's Plate, has been asked to concede nine pounds to Honeycomb, the winner of the 1935 Blue Ribband, and should the latter be taken out by a novice, the difference in weight will be exactly a stone. Royal Scot has also to give weights to Gladiator, Oak Bay and Soldier of Britain, and who should score again after her smart display at the last meeting.

When these two crack-jockeys met in the Mount Park Handicap, King's Warden, who was second, was giving 7 lbs. to Royal Scot, who finished fourth, but the latter has now a pound of 10 lbs. and King's Warden will have to show his best to try to beat her. It is a pity that Royal Scot was once considered a "novice" but after her convincing win in the Shing Mun Handicap over six furlongs, she must be rated "A1" over any journey.

I am not at this juncture, belittling Mr. Harriman's riding or trying to set his house in order, but I am of the candid opinion that Royal Scot goes better with Mr. Deltz than the owner and I would like to see the grey mare given another chance with the same jockey, just to see how she would do.

SEVEN MODERATE RUNNERS

For Warwick Farm Handicap

The Warwick Farm Handicap for "A" class Australian ponies over six furlongs has attracted seven moderate runners and all have been leniently treated on the handicap. It has not been unusual to see the range of weights from 105 lbs. to 135 lbs. and the adjustment of the poundage to a limit of 10 lbs. difference does not leave any loophole for spotting the winner.

Five ponies have been allotted on the basis of 155 lbs., the lowest being Australian Boy with only 145 lbs. to carry. With the exception of Double Finesse, all others have, this season, made their acquaintances with the judges and it is worth noting that Bobnuk Star is the present track holder of six furlongs. We have several speedy merchants and I am sure that it will be the best race of the afternoon.

Electron has been named for the honour owing to his recent performances, especially when he won the Calliope Handicap over a mile in very good time. It must be remembered that, apart from the fast going, Electron was in receipt of a stone from Shooting Star, whereas to-morrow the latter is better off by five pounds and this must be considered.

Then what about Derby Day? She gave a sparkling display when she won the New Bridge Handicap over five furlongs at the Easter Meeting and Electron was conceding her a pound short of a stone, but to-morrow they are on level terms. Derby Day will not have the same jockey as Mr. Raymond Pih will weigh out on his own cob, Double Finesse. Last Saturday she was given a sharp spin over a mile and she journeyed the circuit in 1.55.4/5. It was not possible to discover what weight she had on her back but believe or not, Double Finesse was not "all out" and she certainly has my vote for $5 each way.

Test For "B" Class Ponies

TO-MORROW'S NEW COURSE

At the last meeting, the "B" class China Ponies had a sprint test over five furlongs whereas to-morrow the course of the Lead Mine Handicap is from the two mile post, once round and in. A comparison of the weights in the High West Handicap over 1 1/4 miles run on May 2 and what they are set to carry to-morrow will give an idea of the handicapper's distribution of the lead:

	High West	Lead Mine	Difference
King's Justice	155	150	plus 4 lbs.
King's Lead	151	144	minus 7 lbs.
Bright View	150	142	minus 8 lbs.
Bear Claw (Fell)	151	145	minus 6 lbs.
Cyclone	149	145	minus 4 lbs.
Jungle Jim	153	140	minus 13 lbs.
King's Jubilee	154	141	minus 13 lbs.
King's Lead	151	144	minus 7 lbs.
How-Queen	151	144	minus 7 lbs.
Soldier of China	150	141	minus 9 lbs.

It will be remembered that the result of the High West Handicap found the field well strung out. Excepting King's Justice who has been penalized nine pounds, all others have liberal allowances, and Bright View, Jungle Jim and King's Jubilee should be dangerous owing to the low impost. The distance of this event is to the liking of Sade and Rose-Queen, and at the time of writing I cannot make up my mind which pony is in better form. King's Lead has been left alone and he has a good outside chance. Bear Claw, who unsentenced King in the High West Handicap, is still on the walking list.

Good Field FOR THE CUSTOMS HANDICAP

In the Customs Handicap (first section) for "C" class China ponies over five furlongs a good field almost certain and we should see a smart race between Boolat Bay, Dawn Star, Harvest View, King's Bounty, New Star and Pontiac Bay. On a firm going, I cannot nominate any pony to beat King's Bounty and it will be recalled that he was a first class sprinter in his prime. It is not to be overlooked that he raced here as a griffin in 1935 and he established a track record of 1.10.4/5th for five furlongs on February 20, 1932. My next fancy is Dawn Star and Pontiac Bay. I have left Ribba out of the reckoning as a distance pony, but New Star is dangerous, and likely to upset the apple-cart.

Ferrier Still Going Strong

BUT THOMSON NOW FAVOURITE FOR BRITISH GOLF TITLE

St. Andrew's, May 28.
The draw for the last eight in the British Amateur Open Golf Championship made to-day resulted as follows.

Thomson has deposed Ferrier as favourite in view of his amazing performance to date. He has played 43 holes in 157 strokes, which average even surpasses Bobby Jones's performance in this event. He did not lose a single hole in winning his fifth round match.

Outstanding fifth round results were: Ewing beat Roger Wethered two up, Gordon Peters beat Harry Bentley, the Walker Cupper, 2 and 1, Robert Sweeney, ex-Oxford Blue, beat Eustace Storey, Walker Cup player 2 and 1.

There were no surprises in the sixth round although Sweeney took Ferrier to the 21st before conceding the match.—Reuter.

REAL PROBLEM THE CUSTOMS H'C'P FOR "C" PONIES

AMBERLEY MAY SCORE

With the inclusion of Amberley and Laughing Girl in the Customs Handicap (second section) for "C" class China ponies over five furlongs, spotting the winner is a real problem. We are sure of a good field and naturally the draw is an important factor. We all know the reputation of What A Chance for a sprint race, but he will have to strike his best form to stave off the challenge of Amberley, King's Sceptre and Laughing Girl. What A Chance showed us his true colour in the Fathana Handicap run on April 11 when he finished ahead of a mediocre field, whereas to-morrow he has to meet some speedy roadsters.

If Amberley and Laughing Girl can reproduce the same form when they were second and third respectively in the Sugar Loaf Handicap at the Easter meeting, they should have no difficulty in passing the wire in that order.

Prior to every Meeting, there are "try-out" sensations. Some tryouts are informative and some are deceptive for they do not know what weights have been carried. However, last Saturday King's Sceptre galloped a mile in 2.10.1/5 and he finished gamely. The last quarter was negotiated in 30 seconds and the last half of the mile centered in 1.01.4/5, which was undoubtedly a grand performance. Under the circumstances, I cannot see anything to oust King's Sceptre for the first honour.

Our Daily Golf Hint

In my opinion there are only these things to do: stand firmly on your feet; hold firmly to the club; swing the club back slowly; hit with the wrists; finish the shot.—Texas Terry.

WHY PAY UP RAN SO BADLY

SUFFERING FROM SORE FOOT

London, May 28.
The Derby favourite, Pay Up's display which astonished its connections, was due to lameness which was revealed to-day.

The colt was very lame last night and could hardly move across its box. The off fore foot was very hot and suffering from the result of a severe jar. The shoe was removed and the foot poulticed. A decided improvement was noted to-day.

The Control Board has announced that the dividend payable for forecasting the first and second horses in the Derby was £42,188-0d. The units, which started at 2/6, increased to five shillings and ten shillings when nearing the race.—Reuter.

STRUCK BY GOLF BALL IN TRAIN

Injured Passenger's Collapse

As a Hounslow-bound train was passing Wyke Green Golf Course, Osterley, which adjoins the Piccadilly line, passengers heard the noise of breaking glass and saw Mr. C. H. Short, of Berkeley Avenue, Cranford, fall forward, bleeding from the face. He had been struck by a golf ball that crashed through the window.

Alighting at Osterley Station Mr. Short collapsed and was taken to hospital. After treatment he was able to go home.

"This is the first we have heard of the incident," an official at the Wyke Green club told the News Chronicle later.

"The course lies on both sides of the railway," he said. "It would be quite easy for a player to send a ball over the line. No player has reported such an incident."

The Return Of R. Abbit

Although reports, upon which was based yesterday's announcement in the Telegraph that R. Abbit's contributions would be suspended indefinitely, indicated that our popular cricket commentator was not sufficiently recovered from his illness to resume his articles for some time, yesterday evening's delivery of correspondence produced a full length contribution.

It was written from his bedside in the hospital and deals fully with the achievements of the Kowloon Cricket Club, last season's champions of the league.

KHO'S GALLANT FAILURE

In 5th Set

SPLENDID TENNIS

Paris, May 28.
After holding a lead of 4-2 in the fifth set, Kho Sin-kie, Chinese Davis Cup player, was beaten by Maneff of Switzerland in the fourth round of the French national singles tennis championship at Auteuil to-day, this bringing to a temporary check a brilliant effort to establish himself among the foremost players in the world to-day.

Maneff won by scores of 7-5, 6-3, 3-7, 2-6, 4-4. Both players, who are slight and wiry in build, covered the court with easy cat-like movements, but Maneff's strokes were slightly the speedier, while he enjoyed better stamina.

Their styles were so similar that neither could easily pick holes in the other's armour. Both exhibited smooth, fluent drives and were quick on the ball overhead, though in this department they did not show perfect accuracy. Kho Sin-kie's smashing was not so sound as against Lesueur.

The Chinese passed Maneff well in the third and fourth sets to recover a lot of ground, and led 4-2 in the fifth set, but the strain was too great. Many of his returns went wide, though he saved two match points before losing.

On the whole it was a splendid display and Kho Sin-kie has impressed the critics with his immense improvement since arrival here, and France hopes to see more of him.—Reuter.

TO-DAY'S TENNIS

"D" Division Season Starts

Rain yesterday ruined the league tennis and lawn bowls championship programmes, and weather indications at the time of writing are not favourably disposed towards to-day's schedule of tennis matches.

Eight of the nine "D" Division teams are engaged, and as the C.R.C. are not competing this year, prospects are very open. Radio Sports Club, who finished runners-up last summer have every reason to feel confident of improving upon this, while the possibilities of K.C.C., I.R.C., K.T.C. and S.C.A.A. finishing champions cannot be ignored.

Radio Sports Club do not open their programme until next week. To-day's matches are as follows.

P.R.C. v. I.R.C.
K.T.C. v. A.T.C.
C.C.C. v. K.C.C.
C.B.A. v. S.C.A.A.

CORRESPONDENCE

Apology And An Explanation

The Sports Editor,
Hongkong Telegraph.

Sir—I should like to briefly reply to Mr. Mackenzie's letter of even date. The issue was one between "Veritas" and myself. Should any of my remarks have appeared disparaging to Mr. Mackenzie or Miss Mackenzie (because such was not my intention)—I unreservedly apologise. The remarks "opinions" when aired through the columns of the press they sometimes convey more than a mere opinion—had no intended subtlety. Readers of newspapers are apt to accept articles published as being facts or at least correct in substance and it was to this I referred.

Yours truly,

FOUR BATSMEN AND TWO BOWLERS WIN THE SHIELD

(By R. Abbit)

The gap in my series of reviews of the past season's teams has been regrettable but I can only assure my readers that one does not argue with influenza any more than with an umpire—less in fact! And even this article is being written in bed. And it is owing to the fact that I have not been able to get even as far as a telephone for the past week, that I have not acknowledged the figures which my good friend Mr. Frank Goodwin was kind enough to send me.

It was with great interest that I went through the Kowloon Cricket Club's figures, and I found there borne out the point that I have made before about the first eleven and that is that their success in the Shield is due in a great measure to six people only—two bowlers and four batsmen—though there was a competent balance of talent which made the batsmen's task easier; and by that I mean that the other seven members of the team, besides the two Finchers, Mackay, and Arthur Lay, had enough batting among them to be able to fight a stout rear-guard action. Thus the shock-troops could take chances without feeling that they would lose the match with their wickets.

THEIR WIN

The K.C.C. victory was unexpected in a way, but the fact is that from a poor start in non-league games and a quiet start in the League itself, they definitely improved all through the season, and by January or so were playing in the form that had distinguished them three or four seasons ago. On the other hand a good many teams, notably the I.R.C. and the Club rather sagged away. As things turned out, the K.C.C. only dropped four points when they drew a couple of games. The remaining five they won outright.

Their cricket was well adapted to the League conditions. Their batsmen were mostly of the quick-scoring type, while their bowlers did not wicket, if not at amazingly small cost! Some excellent catches were made, though on the whole it must be admitted that improvement in this department could have been shown.

THE BATTING

A glance at the League Batting averages will show that of a total of nine hundred and fifty-six runs, less than eight hundred and six were made by the four batsmen I have mentioned. The actual averages are a good deal affected by "not out" innings, but if one were to disregard these, the only alteration would be to bring E. F. below E. C. Fincher and the averages would read 35, 32, 25 and 23 respectively. It is true that they accounted for most of the runs but it will be noted that the others did not have to bat so often, and often had to get runs or get out! The figures are as follows:

COUNTY CRICKET

MIDDLESEX AND DERBYSHIRE Win Easily

London, May 28.
Middlesex and Derbyshire scored very easy victories in the county cricket championship to-day, Middlesex beating Somerset by an innings and 99 runs, and Derbyshire winning by ten wickets against Gloucestershire.

Somerset had two bad spells at the wicket. In their first innings they were dismissed for 145 and in their second for 152.

Middlesex scored with much greater freedom. "Patsy" Hendren compiling 134 which materially helped in making the Middlesex total up to 390.

The Derby v. Gloucester match produced some unusually low scoring. Gloucester aggregated 164 in their first attempt to which Derby replied with 193, Shindell taking 7 for 54. Batting a second time Gloucester fared ill against the deliveries of Mitchell (6 for 40) and were all out for 123. Derbyshire hit off the required 95 runs without loss.—Reuter.

GORDON LUM "LOST" IN RAILWAY SIDING

GORDON LUM, the Australian-born Chinese tennis player and a member of the Chinese Davis Cup team, was nearly carried back to London in the train in which he travelled to Harrogate for the tennis tournament one day this month.

He was so engrossed in a book that he did not notice that the train had emptied of passengers or that it had been

shunted into a siding a mile away from the station.

Friends at the station learned that he had been seen on the train, and Lum was "rescued"—he was found still peacefully reading—and arrived at the tournament ground in time to meet P. R. T. Garnett.

He proceeded to beat Garnett in the earliest of fashions—"far too easily, according to Lum" quotes Stanley N. Doubt in the Daily Mail. The well-known critic goes on to express the opinion that Lum is a player without a weakness.

R. Lee	2	2	1*	2	2.00

The bowling rested almost entirely on the shoulders of Goodwin and Lee, who both bowled very well though Lee was apt to lose his length and direction with expensive suddenness. Goodwin, now happily recovered, seems to be well on the way back to his old form. Each bowler personally took more than all the "change bowlers" put together, but one must not overlook Gittins who had a knack of getting a wicket when Goodwin and Lee seemed definitely collared. Indeed he heads the list, though how he manages to get his wickets so cheaply I can never quite make out. I fancy it is because he is so tactfully used by his captain who takes him off as soon as he has got his wicket or, anyway, shows signs of looking simple to the batsmen. The figures are these—

NON-LEAGUE GAMES

The K.C.C. are the most indefatigable of players. In addition to their League programme of which I have given the figures, they played seven other games of which they won six drew one and lost ten. It shows the sporting nature of the cricket they played when one realises that they finished sixteen games out of seventeen, and though they actually lost ten games, a good deal of their trouble was earlier in the season. And incidentally in some of their very jolly all day holiday games they took on some exceptionally strong sides when not at full strength. There is nothing wrong with cricket at the K.C.C. I wish there was as much keenness all over the Colony. The next two tables I print the batting and bowling figures, which include the League figures already given. It will be seen that Mackay, who has had a splendid season, still leads. Lay, who had played far sounder cricket this year, comes up to second place, while F. S. W. Smith shows much more to advantage than in the League.

S. V. Gittins	12	3	22	72	6.0
W. C. Hung	9	0	16	43	4.7

In the bowling Robert Lee creeps up on Goodwin—and actually beats him for wickets taken—and each have over fifty wickets. But here again it is painfully obvious what a great proportion of the bowling they have done. Next season Kowloon have got to get a couple more good change bowlers or I fear their chances of securing the Shield are nil.

THE SECOND ELEVEN

In the Junior League the Second Eleven, like the first, were unbeaten but they drew five out of the ten games played and so had no chance of the Shield. Nor indeed were they much better in non-League games as they drew three more, and only won one and lost one game. I confess I did not see them but I am told that their bowlers were not able to get sides out in time to drive matters home while the big totals they made before declaration rather suggested that their skipper was none too sure of his trundlers! George Lee had a wonderfully good season while in Quinell—whom I have seen once—I think they have a useful new all-beyond the endurance of Centre Court. Halcyn, although a bad chap at the barrier, is a better stayer and he should be well up at the finish with Goldsmith in the rear. I have no personal prejudice against Night Star but it is my firm belief that she is on the down grade.

PLAIN VIEW HAS GOOD CHANCE

To Make Amends in Shatin H'd'c'p

Plain View has a good chance to retrieve himself in the Shatin Handicap (First Section) for "D" class China ponies over a course from the two mile post, once round and in, and his chief opposition is Gold Coin and Daylight Eve. Tyne, Wadebridge and Young Chap were recently denoted from "C" standard and they will no doubt run better on Whit-Monday. At the last meeting, Plain View succumbed to Ythan by a neck and as the latter has been promoted to a better division, Plain View should have a clear passage to romp home.

WEST PARADE HAS VERY BRIGHT PROSPECTS

We have the form of West Parade at the last meeting and this day mare owned by a syndicate "Seattle" is in concert pitch. She has been allotted a weight for inches in the penultimate event, Shatin Handicap (second section) for "D" class China Ponies over a journey from the two mile post, once round and in, and her chances are very bright. Neither Philanderer nor Sylvandale are distance ponies and their prospects of filling the minor places are not rosy. On his last running, I like Humber and Warrington. Double Chance and Festival Eve may spring a surprise. The Stonecutters Plate for non-winning Subscription Grifflins over half-a-mile is to be ridden by novice jockeys and my fancy is in the order of finish is Cassius, Ocean View and Shamrock.

M. C. C. AGREE

To Send Manager On S. African Tours

Johannesburg, May 8. When the M.C.C. cricket team comes to this country towards the end of 1937 they will bring their manager with them and will not, as in previous years, have the team put in charge of a South African.

The South African Cricket Association suggested the new arrangement to the M.C.C. who agreed. In their recent tour the Australians brought with them their own manager, Mr. S. H. Rowe, and showed that it was better for a touring team to have a fellow-countryman as manager.

The South African authorities will in future appoint a business manager to travel with the tourists, but his duties will not go beyond business matters which the tour involves.

FAMOUS SHANGHAI SOCCER CLUB BREAKING UP

With Denis Chen, the sole supporter of the Three Cultures Athletic Club, in financial difficulties, the management of one of the oldest Chinese clubs will probably change hands.

An ardent promoter of sports, Denis Chen has in the past spent thousands of dollars each year to run different sporting events, such as football, basketball, tennis and swimming for the benefit of the local Chinese youths. His home on Medhurst Road has been turned into a veritable sporting arena with a gymnasium, a swimming pool and several tennis courts. Recently the millionaire sports promoter struck bad luck and was obliged to give up the club, the management being temporarily handed over to Yang Sung, the organiser of the Chinese Football Club. It is likely that in the autumn the Young Men and Three Cultures will be amalgamated under either one of the names.

TEN YEARS' RECORD

The Three Cultures Club was formed more than 10 years ago, when football among the Chinese in Shanghai was just beginning to sprout. Denis Chen succeeded in raising a decent football team from among the members of the Chinese Recreation Ground near West Gate, while another team in the name of the Union Football Club was organised in rivalry with the Culturists.

In those days a match between these two rival teams, the Culturists and the Union, would draw thousands of spectators to the Pioneer Field in the French Concession, the former home of the China National Amateur Athletic Federation. Spurred by the enthusiasm and interest among the footballers and spectators Denis Chen expended a fortune on the promotion of sports, contributing substantial sums to the C.N.A.A.F. and other kindred organisations and donating numerous prizes for various competitions.

Denis Chen has not only spent large sums on sports but has also helped unfortunate athletes by giving them jobs in his many firms, as well as board and lodging. He went to the extent of sending several to local schools. And finally he is an ardent sportsman himself.

OAKS PROBABLES

Jockeys Nominated For Epsom Event

London, May 28. The following are the probable starters for the Oaks, which will be run at Epsom Downs to-morrow:

Traffic Light (Dick), Veuve Clicquet (E. Summer CAN'T LAST for Ever

... even in Kashmir, Garden of India. But this romantic story tells of the Summer of Love, which can last for ever!

—By MARGARET FERGUSON

CHAPTER III

The light of the full moon, white as ivory, delicately patterned as old lace, lay over the lawn of the Shallimar garden in Kashmir. Water flowing down a wide, shallow, white marble channel made a strip of sequin-bright sparkles; nightingales sang in the heavy trees, the warm air was perfumed with roses. It was a paradise of peace and loveliness, especially to a man tired after long months of scorching hot service on the Indian Frontier.

Christy Maradick lay stretched on his back under one of the giant chinar trees, and sleepily watched the moonlight flicker through the myriad leaves.
It was heaven to breathe such cool, pure air, to feel the moisture of dew on his sunburnt face.
For five months his regiment had frizzled and scorched in the bare Frontier hills, and he had had malaria, so badly at last that he had been packed off forthwith on two months' leave to Kashmir. And here he was, still with six long, idle weeks to go.

But was he looking forward to them so ardently, he wondered, as he rolled over and lit a cigarette.
He had been up here over a fortnight now, for the first week camping in the hills, for the second living in a tiny matting houseboat moored on the Dal Lake. During this week he had scarcely spoken to a soul.
Srinagar was rather empty just now;
most people had gone off to Gilgit for coolness. He didn't know anyone at all and being a shy young man who wasn't feeling too strong or lively just yet, carefully avoided all social endeavours. That certainly made for peace—but couldn't penetrate on loneliness after a time!

He spent the days floating about in a shikara, fishing or sketching, and the nights sleeping on the tiny square of deck on his boat, and certainly health was flowing back into his tired body. In fact he was beginning to feel a bit restless and longing about some society, to think that he'd like someone to talk to and do things with without being dragged into the noise and gaieties of a certain clique of rather wild young people who dashed about everlastingly, playing bathing, moonlight picnicking, and dancing with the maximum of noise and excitement. They had been out here to-night and he had taken care to keep well out of sight while they played gramophones and banjos.

She was small and slight, and light
as air, dressed in a very simple, soft white frock that floated round her,
and her thick, curly hair that looked bright copper even in the moonlight, almost touched her shoulders.
She was barefooted and her toes twinkled over the soft grass like little white feathers as she whirled faster and faster to the hurrying beat of the music. And then suddenly her foot must have caught in something on the grass, for she tripped, swayed in the air and fell full length at his feet. He was so startled that he sprang up, and she was up too, and so she wasn't a ghost—she was human and real—and she looked as though she might have damaged her ankle by that fall.

Christy ran down the steps and across the grass to her side, where she sat slowly rubbing her ankle, her lip caught between her small white teeth in an expression of pain.
"I say, have you hurt yourself?"

danced and hurried cushions at each other, and did their best to drown the ripple of running water and the liquid notes of the nightingale. But it was very late now, late enough even to have sent them all home yawning and squabbling, and the garden was left alone with its roses and moonlight.

Christy lit another cigarette and drifted off into another doze.
He was awakened from it by a sound that at first was woven into the fabric of his dreams, a faint, sweet sound of music. It didn't seem strange, somehow, to hear it floating through the garden, but perfectly natural; it was a fairytale sort of night on which anything might happen. Yet of course, there must be some ordinary reason for it, and when he was fully awake and sat up, picking daisies and grass about him with curiosity, he looked at his thick, fair hair, he looked at the other cigarette and music. It certainly was a sweet, haunting refrain played on muted violins, and it seemed to be drifting up from the lower terrace of the garden.

Cautionally, then, he went to the edge of the wide, shallow, marble stairs and looked down on them—and saw a sight that made him catch his breath and wonder if he really were awake, or if the Shallimar garden was perhaps haunted by ghosts.

Down there on the wide space of grass a girl was dancing by herself to the music that seemed to come from nowhere.
She was small and slight, and light
as air, dressed in a very simple, soft
white frock that floated round her,
and her thick, curly hair that
looked bright copper even in the moonlight, almost touched her shoulders.

"Let me introduce myself," he said hastily. "My name's Christy Maradick—Captain Maradick, up here on leave. Will you have a cigarette?"
He held out a silver case and she took a cigarette and bent her head down to the flame of the tiny lighter that shone on her mass of copper gold hair.
"Thank you. And I'm—" then she stopped suddenly, tilted back her head and looked at him, her lashes lowered mysteriously. "Who do you think I am?" She never knew what made her say that—afterwards, when she thought about it, it sounded ridiculously melodramatic. "What do you think I am?"
"You?" He looked at her gravely.
"Yes. Would you think I was a—a nursery governess or a secretary?"
"You!" He gave a sudden shout of laughter. "I can't believe that you're flesh and blood even now. A secretary! No... you're a dancer, aren't you? A Russian ballerina, perhaps. At any rate one of the loveliest dancers that ever whirled about on a stage."

HAPPENINGS AS SEEN BY THE CAMERA'S EYE

There was no lack of civil chieftains in San Francisco when over 30 mayors gathered for a regional meeting of the United States Conference of Mayors. Fiery Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, one of the first to arrive, is shown as he stepped from a United Airlines plane to be greeted by Mayor Angelo Rossi of San Francisco, right.

CORONETS FOR THE CORONATION

Marking his retirement as commanding officer of the U.S. Fourth Marines, stationed in Shanghai, Colonel John C. Beaumont inspected troops of four nations and the Shanghai Volunteer Corps. At the right is a detachment from the Lancashire Fusiliers at salute, at left below Beaumont walking farwell from a naval band. In the foreground from left to right, are pictured: Brigadier F. S. Thackeray; the officer commanding the Japanese Naval Landing Party detachment; Colonel Beaumont, Colonel F. R. W. Graham and Colonel A. Perrett.

Baby carriage or two-ton truck—they're all the same to Mrs. Hugh Kizer of Albany, Ore. She started driving her husband's truck three years ago when he became ill and was forced to stay in a hospital for a year. She became so proficient that to-day she is rated as one of the best truck drivers in the state and her services are much in demand.

Passport Trap For Capone's Tutor

Arrested Before Flight To Britain

New York, May 20.
The famous "G men" of the Department of Justice now have a stronghold on the principal gangsters of the United States.
CHARLES LUCKY LUCIANO, racketeer millionaire, is in New York prison awaiting trial. Attorney-General Cummings has put a price of $1,000 on the head of Alvin Karpis, wanted for the kidnapping of the millionaire Edward Bremer, and a third gangster, John Torrio, known as "Tutor Extraordinary" to Al Capone, is in the same goal that holds Luciano.

Torrio, who was ready to flee the country with a fortune of $2,000,000 in United States Government securities, and who was captured yesterday, owed his downfall to the close coordination now existing between the Government departments.

He had applied for a passport in Washington and booked a passage in the liner Empress of Australia, leaving Quebec the following Sunday for Southampton.

WIFE SEES ARREST
The passport authorities warned the Department of Inland Revenue, and Torrio, who the "G men" allege has smuggled foreign liquors into the United States with a fleet of speed-boats, was lured to the post office at White Plains, where he lives, by a faked registered letter supposed to contain the passport.

When he arrived with his wife, two "G men" stepped up to the gangster, whispered in his ear, and carried him off by motorcar to New York.
The police believe Torrio is the head of a syndicate composed largely of "prominent business men."

POLICE CHIEF'S GREETING
They also state that he has been visiting Capone's wife each month and giving her large sums of money.
Torrio, who came to the New York police headquarters yesterday, looked a very different man from the gangster of 20 years ago. Quietly dressed, he appeared a well-to-do business man and he expressed anger when Lieutenant Finn, who spent two years in tracking Hauptmann, looked up from his desk, and said pleasantly: "Hello, Johnny, it's a long time since I've seen you."

AUTONOMY IN INDIA

PAPERS EXPRESS SATISFACTION

London, May 28.
Newspapers, in comment on the draft Order-in-Council under the Government of India Act, issued yesterday, express satisfaction that it has been possible to fix April 1, 1937, as the date for the setting up of the system of provincial autonomy in eleven British Indian provinces and for the separation of Burma.

This decision has been facilitated by the Government's adoption of the report of Sir Otto Niemeyer on the allocation of certain revenues between the central and provincial Governments. The draft orders will be considered by Parliament shortly after the Whitsuntide recess.—British Wireless.

DIG AS DEEP AS LONDON TUBES

MR. HOWARD CARTER
—archaeologist and explorer of Tutankhamen fame—wants to find the tomb of Alexander the Great, but the expedition will be costly.

He said to a press representative in London:—

"If I should once make an important find concerning Alexander the Great, it is pretty certain that the Government would take control and finance further exploration.

"As it is, I must just mark time, and hope the money will come from somewhere.

"These expeditions are expensive.
When we excavated for the tomb of Tutankhamen between £50,000 and £75,000 was spent.
Moving the objects once the tomb is opened is costly.

"It took us nine years to remove everything from Tutankhamen's tomb, and cost £11,000."

LAST WISH

Mr. Carter believes that Alexander was buried somewhere on the outskirts of the old town of Alexandria.
It is known that his last wish was to be buried there.

"But to excavate there would be like trying to excavate under a London suburb," Mr. Carter added. "We should have to dig under people's houses, and probably go as deep as the London Underground.

"I have always wanted to try to find that tomb. A Ptolemy grave has never yet been discovered anywhere near these parts.

"I am returning to Egypt next November, for I live there six months in every year. Perhaps then I may make some discovery that will lead to the fulfilment of my ambition."

REGRETS NEW EXPENDITURE

BUT BRITAIN MUST HAVE FLEET

London, May 28.
In the debate of the supplementary estimate of £16,300,000 for a new programme of naval construction, in the House of Commons this evening, Lord Stanley, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, said he shared the Opposition's regret at the necessity for this very considerable increase in naval expenditure and at the fact that the incessant efforts made by every British Government since the War to get an agreed limitation of armaments had not been more successful.

On the question of battleships,
Lord Stanley said he could only respect they were not building against any single country, but it has been proved by the mere fact that Germany, France and Italy were all building battleships that the day of battleships was not over and it was essential to start as early as possible in replacing the rapidly aging British battle fleets.—British Wireless.

London, May 28.
An announcement arising out of the decision of the Government last Monday week, not to go to a division on the second reading of the Coal Mining Bill after the opposition developed on both sides of the House to amendments which the Government indicated it would introduce in the committee stage, was made by the Prime Minister in the House of Commons this evening.

Mr. Baldwin said the Government held by the principles of the Bill, but had decided it must be postponed till the autumn, as sufficient time was not available after recess in the heavy Parliamentary time-table. The Government would make use of the interval to redraft the Bill, which would include the changes announced in the debate on the second reading.

Of Regime

Moscow, May 18.

The territory of Naryn, northwest Siberia, in which hundreds of the present ruling group in Soviet Russia, including Joseph Stalin, spent years of exile before the revolution, has been converted by these former exiles into an exile colony for settling opponents of their own regime.Under the Tsars, Naryn, which is equal in size to Czechoslovakia, Austria and Switzerland, was described as a "gigantic prison for revolutionaries." The Communists, multiplying the number of exiles, insist that their purposes and results are very different.Especially since 1930, when the Communist dictatorship declared open warfare upon peasants resisting collectivization, this remote and difficult region has received hundreds of thousands of dispossessed peasants and their families, who were herded together and shipped in cattle cars from their former homes in the Ukraine on North Caucasus into the north.A glowing picture of the "colossal economic and cultural development" of Naryn by these exiles, working under the allegedly benevolent direction of the political police, has been portrayed by several recent articles in the Soviet press.

MASS SYSTEM OF EXILE

The mass nature of exile under the Communists is revealed by the disclosure that whereas in 1917 there was only one inhabitant to every 20 kilometres in Naryn, the population has since grown 14 times. Most of these settlers admittedly did not move into Naryn voluntarily.The chief of the Naryn political police, under the Commissariat of Home Affairs, I. I. Dolgikh, explained that "by moving dispossessed kulaks to such regions, our Government has not only cleared the collectivized regions of kulak weeds, but also has taught these former exploiters to work, utilizing them for the benefit of socialist construction, for the mastery of some of our richest regions."

RIGHTS WITH RESTRAINTS

Mr. Dolgikh declared that exiles were told that "if they ceased to struggle against the Soviet power, and proved themselves to be conscientious workers all civil rights would be restored to them at the end of five years." He added that many have regained civil rights, and restoration of citizenship to many others has been recommended. He did not mention, however, that a decree was issued in January, 1936, which forbade former kulaks to leave regions to which they had been ex-iled, "even after they have recovered citizenship."The Soviet press reports that the exiled peasants, who frequently resisted collectivization because they were the most successful and energetic peasants in their districts, have developed Naryn's agriculture with remarkable rapidity. About 80 per cent. have formed collective farms, although Mr. Dolgikh insists they were not compelled to do so.The sown area in Naryn has increased 7.5 times since 1930, but only two machine-tractor stations serve the collectives of exiles.

MANY ROADS BUILT

In five years, reported Mr. Dolgikh, the exiles have built 3,185 kilometres of dirt roads through the wilderness, suitable for motor traffic.
Surveys have been made for another 8,000 kilometres of roads, and construction of a canal has been planned to unite the Ob and Irtysh rivers, making it possible to transport Naryn timber to the Ural industrial centres and to Kazakhstan.
The third five-year plan (1937-42) provides for a railway connecting Naryn with the trans-Siberian system.The Soviet press describes Naryn as potentially one of the richest regions in Russia. About 86 per cent. of its surface is covered with dense forests, large deposits of coal have been found, and indications of petroleum, gold and other minerals.
The exiles engage largely in hunting and timber-cutting during the long winters.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION

Universal elementary education has been provided for the children of Naryn exiles since 1931, the press asserts. During the past three years 236 schools have been built by the exiles themselves, and institutes have been organized to teach tractor-driving, livestock breeding and land drainage. Workers' clubs have been provided in many places, with dramatic, art and other "circles."The use of the traditional Russian method of mass exile to develop Naryn and other remote regions is one of the most striking features of the Soviet regime, it has been estimated that about one person in 17 is still working under some such form of state control. The Communists justify the system on the grounds that it permits them simultaneously to dispose of their enemies and to develop Russia's vast pioneer regions swiftly and cheaply, and at the same time to "create new people, conscious builders of socialism."Russian Women

ROYALTY COSTS MUCH LESS

How King Edward Aids Britain's Treasury

Duke Of York's Extra £25,000

AN annual saving on the Royal Civil List of £155,900 is assured as long as the King remains unmarried, according to the report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons which considered the matter.

This is partly because the King is retaining for his privy the revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall, and not drawing £70,000 provided for in the Civil List.

The King also wishes to provide out of the Duchy revenues the extra £25,000 annuity recommended for the Duke of York in view of his heavier duties as heir presumptive.

The total of the list is £410,000, compared with £470,000 proposed for King George in 1910.

The allocations made by the committee are:

	1910	1936
Privy Purse	110,000	110,000
Household salaries and retired allowances	125,000	134,000
Household expenses	193,000	152,800
Works	20,000	Abolished
Royal bounty, alms, and special services	13,200	13,200
Unappropriated	8,000	Abolished

The committee further recommends that, should the Duke of York die while heir presumptive, the £25,000 annuity should be continued in trust for the duchess and the surviving children as long as there is no heir apparent.

FUTURE QUEEN'S £40,000

It is proposed that, in the event of the King marrying, the future Queen shall be provided with £40,000 (£27,000 for her personal staff).

If a Duke of Cornwall is born, £25,000 should be set aside out of the Duchy revenues for his maintenance and education and for the payment of an annual sum (not less than £10,000) to trustees to be accumulated to provide for his future wife.

The committee mentions that the provision of £70,000 made for Queen Mary in 1910 to take effect on the death of King George now becomes operative.

SOCIALIST PROPOSAL

Mr. C. R. Attlee, one of the five Socialist members on the committee, proposed that, as the King, as Duke of Lancaster, is to receive an increasing annual payment from the revenues of the Duchy, it was desirable that the principle already applied to the bulk of the Crown lands should now be extended to the Duchy of Lancaster and that its revenues should in future be surrendered to the Exchequer.

In return for the surrender he recommended that £80,000 should be added to the amount payable annually to the privy purse.

The proposal was defeated by 13 votes to 6.

Protection From Reckless Car-Drivers

San Francisco, May 24.

Colonies for the protection of aged persons from reckless automobile drivers are advocated by Thomas Bell, retired engineer. Bell said he expected to organize the entire nation in support of his project. He plans to establish small communities throughout the country, and to prohibit automobiles from being used on the streets of these towns; in which residence would be restricted to persons over 60.

"Most of the people being killed by autos are old people," Bell said. "The only way to save their lives is to keep them away from automobiles. You can't keep the autos away from them."

In addition to working on the earliest settlement plan, Bell also is devoting his attention to an Old age pension plan, which he believes is far superior to that of Dr. Francis Townsend.

Bell hopes to obtain the support of organizations to raise funds to pay all persons 60 years of age $100 a month; this amount to be reduced one dollar each succeeding year. A surplus expected to be accumulated, would be used to pay a flat sum of $5,000 to 400 persons each year. This would go to these persons whose monthly stipend had been reduced to a point where it was not sufficient to support them and women past 80.

Bell does not believe this is a serious problem, however, as he thinks most of the very aged persons would be in his autoless colonies anyway.

He admitted that all financial details had not been worked out completely.

Can Unarmed Zones Last?

Germany has rearmed the Rhineland. Turkey proposes to reararm the Straits. The question arises whether demilitarised and neutralised zones elsewhere can be preserved. These zones exist at many points as shock absorbers between countries that have clashed in the past.

Some of the zones are designed to protect the independence of small states. Others safeguard waterways of international importance.

EUROPE

Neutralised.

Switzerland, by Congress of Vienna, 1815. Neutrality since reaffirmed. Held compatible with League of Nations membership in Switzerland's case. No disarmament.

Belgium, 1839, powers affirm neutrality without disarmament, after Belgium won independence from the Netherlands. German troops violated neutrality in 1914. After war, neutrality of Belgium abolished by Versailles Treaty.

Luxemburg, 1867, neutralised and disarmed by powers. Germany in 1914 violated neutrality. Versailles Treaty abolished neutrality and disarmament.

Aland Islands, 1856, Russia forbidden to fortify islands, but did so in World War. Germany took them. Treaty of Brest-Litovsk provided that Russian demilitarised fortifications. Neutralisation favoured in Paris Peace Conference, 1919, and consecrated in League settlement, 1921, of dispute between Sweden and Finland Islands also demilitarised.

Svalbard, 1919, neutralised and demilitarised by allied powers. Danzig, 1920-21, neutralised and demilitarised unless League of Nations permits arming.

Norway-Sweden, frontier zone, 1905, neutralised and demilitarised.

Demilitarised

Rhineland, islands of Heligoland and Dune, Baltic coastal areas. By Treaty of Versailles, 1919. German territory. Last named ensured free passage into Baltic to all nations.

Bosporus, Sea of Marmara and the Dardanelles. By Lausanne Straits Convention, 1923, no naval bases except one at Constantinople (Istanbul); no troops in straits, except 12,000 at Constantinople.

Thracian Boundary. Lausanne Convention of 1923 limits troops in zone 30 kilometres wide on both sides of border of Turkey with Greece and Bulgaria. Turkish troops, 5,000. Greek and Bulgarian, 2,500 each.

Lake Peipus and Pajori, on new frontier of independent Estonia, demilitarised. Treaty of 1920.

Lake Ladoga, on frontier of Finland. Troops prohibited along Russo-Finnish border. Treaty of 1920.

AMERICA

Neutralised

Panama Canal, by Hay-Pauncefote Treaty of 1901 with Great Britain, and by treaty with Panama, 1903. Other powers not bound to respect neutrality. United States keeps right to fortify and defend canal.

Straits of Magellan, 1881, Chile and Argentina treaty. (Also demilitarised.)

Demilitarised

Great Lakes and Lake Champlain, treaty of 1817 between Britain and United States. Number, size and armament of naval vessels limited.

AFRICA

Neutralised

Suez Canal, by Convention of 1888 between Great Britain, Germany, Austria, Spain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Russia and Turkey. British reservations until 1901. Neutrality broken by Britain in closing canal to Spain in Spanish-American War, 1898. Canal closed to Central Powers in World War.

Demilitarised

Straits of Gibraltar, 1904, Anglo-French declaration that Mediterranean coast of Morocco and Tangier was to be unfortified except for Spanish presidios. Reaffirmed in Franco-Spanish accord of 1912.

ASIA

Demilitarised

Sakhalin Island, Treaty of Portsmouth between Japan and Russia, 1905.

NEWS THROUGH THE U.P. PERISCOPE

San Francisco, May 24. Scanning the horizon with a late-model flexible News-o-scope brings to light some odd happenings that might be worth a second glance.

First activity is indicated at Conalinga, Calif., where 'tis said A. A. Brower had ants in his pants, his shoes, his food, his bed. In fact they were getting into his hair when an idea struck him. He waded the ant- stronghold to a sandhill near his house and set about forcing them to evacuate. So he filled all the holes he could find with gasoline. And for good measure spread it along the various trails the pests had made. Then he set fire to it. When the carpenter started rebuilding Brower's fire-scarred house the ants resumed activities, too.

For a week accountants struggled to balance the books. There was a shortage of 6 cents. Finally experts called in from San Francisco accidentally dislodged a fly crooked leg from what appeared to be a "7" revealing the numeral actually was a "1."

NAMES! NAMES! NAMES! It must have been the name: University of Washington students at Seattle have elected Nathan Washington, fifth generation nephew of George Washington, as student body president for next year. Theme song of his supporters was the Husky hymn "Victory for Washington."

On the other hand—James James, 54, charged with disorderly conduct was fined $5 in Municipal court, Pontiac, Mich.

Milan, Italy—Alfredo Grassi, a merchant, liked the name Concetto so well that he gave it to all of his seven sons. The confusion was so great that he was finally forced to stop naming his children Concetto, but it has become much worse.

since the boys are grown. Concetto Grassi, 27, was recently hard pressed to prove to a court that it was Concetto Grassi, 24, who committed the embezzlement with which he was charged.

THINGS MARITAL Baked beans may be all right for Saturday night supper, but when served for breakfast, lunch and dinner every day for weeks at a time—well, that's cruel.

So testified Stanley K. Horton, Gloucester (Mass.), auto dealer in winning a divorce.

Testimony by Morris J. Oberly, of Detroit (Mich.), that he was tired of buying his wife, Ella, new clothes to replace those she had lost in strip poker games won a divorce suit before Judge Henry G. Nicol.

Presenting the ladies' side of the question—Mrs. Louis Christensen, Dedham, Mass., in seeking a divorce charged—among other things—that her husband blacked her eyes, blacked her father's eyes, refused to let her go to church, spanked her, threw butter on the floor and rubbed her nose in it, and always found fault with her cooking. Chris is contesting.

CRIME STORY Beechbottom, W. Va.—A burglar worked several hours jimmying a door to a factory storeroom. Millworkers found him poring over an empty room—vacated several weeks before.

SUCCESS STORY NEW YORK—Charles M. Schwab, steel millionaire, gave some advice to young men recently while a valet made him comfortable for a trip to Bad Nauheim in a double stateroom on the S. S. Europa. It was: "Don't strive for riches; they mean nothing!" —United Press.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.MARKET DOWNWARD
YESTERDAY

New York, May 28.
Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Dow Jones summary of yesterday's market.—The market to-day turned listless as prices drifted lower after early trading, in which aviation and steel shares advanced and the market gave promise of an extension to Tuesday and Wednesday's recovery. A combination of circumstances, however, retarded trading, including uncertainty in connection with the Tax Bill, the engagement of additional French gold shipments and the approaching holiday. Aviation stocks maintained the best tone, some issues making new high levels. Some mining shares, however, have improved, but other groups were dull and generally lower. The market for bonds was mixed, whilst Curb Exchange stocks were irregular.

Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Dow Jones comment on 28/5 market.—"A larger volume of corporate financing is due in June. Leading steel authorities are more encouraged regarding the future outlook for their industry than at any time in the last five years. The Treasury believes that the distribution of Veterans' Bonus will offer another possibility for credit optimism for the immediate market. Bulls say that the United Fruit Company's second-quarter earnings will show a good gain over those of last year. Detroit operators predict that General Motors will earn at least $2 per share during the second-quarter."

S. C. & F. New York office cables: Stocks: The market reflected some realizing, but we anticipate better prices. The Electric Power & Light Corporation earned 33 cents per common share for the quarter ended March 31st, against 1.67 per preferred share. The Federal Reserve Board's index for industrial production during April was 100 as compared with 93 for March.

Cotton: There was some selling on forecast of rains in the East. There is little outside interest in the market.

Wheat: Prices advanced slightly on continued dry conditions in the North-West and on some improvement in the mill markets, but pressure is expected on advances. Rubber: Dutch exports during April totalled 21,338 tons. The market is steady, but is without any outstanding feature.

ABSURD FINES ON SHIPPING

by improved by the managed currency in Hongkong which is now in closer relationship to that of coast ports. High tariffs have meant a decided falling off in legitimate trade as smuggling is rampant up and down the coast. We have our own preventive staff working in close co-operation with our frontier guards and the Hongkong police, and our thanks are due to them for their willing co-operation in their endeavours to stop illicit trading as far as possible on our vessels.

FINES REGRETTED

It is disheartening to state that fines have been inflicted on even small seizures made at coast ports when we ourselves are doing our utmost to assist the authorities in this preventive work. If the indicators of these crimes were punished by the Customs authorities, we feel that it would go a long way in substantially curtailing the activities of smugglers. Competition has been very keen for the small amount of cargo moving. New vessels have been placed on the run in competition and cargo and passenger rates have been reduced to rates which leave little to cover the operation of the vessels.

The present taxation of goods imported into and exported from China and the uncertainty of the position regarding the imposition of new taxes have had a very discouraging effect on our constituents, a great number of whom have curtailed their activities to bare minimum and are content to wait for better times, or at least until conditions become more settled. Docking and repair expenses have been higher than usual, owing to the new survey requirements. Careful attention has been given to all outgoing in this direction, and also to the economical operation of our vessels.

You may note that no allowance has been made for depreciation on our tonnage, as your Consulting Committee and General Managers consider that due to the ample provision made in the years 1933-1934, the present fleet valuation as per balance sheet is well within its present market value, especially when reflected in sterling.

Our investments have fluctuated considerably in value during the period under review owing to the exchange conditions and I am glad to be able to state that they show a substantial improvement in value on what they at one time stood at during the year. The policy of holding them rather than sell in order to liquidate our overdraft has proved to be beneficial.

I do not think there is any more in the accounts that I can comment upon so now beg to propose that the report and accounts as submitted be adopted and passed. As soon as this resolution has been seconded I will be pleased to answer to the best of my ability any questions shareholders may desire to ask.

SECONDER'S SPEECH

Mr. J. F. Wright said:—Mr. Chairman, Gentlemen.—The reasons for the loss shown on last year's working, much as it is to be regretted, have been fully explained by the Chairman and can be appreciated by all of us who are aware of the conditions of trade in general during 1935. It is to be hoped that there will be some improvement to be gained from the managed currency. Trade generally seems to be benefiting and this should be reflected in improved conditions on the coast. As pointed out by the Chairman, the rate of exchange for remittances from coast ports has already shown substantial improvement. It is fortunate that the profits of the past two years were used for depreciating the Company's properties so fully. The Company's properties and General Managers are to be congratulated on their conservative policy from which we are now benefiting. I beg to second the motion for the adoption of the Report and Accounts as submitted.

The report and accounts were adopted.

MR. KIRBY'S SPEECH

Mr. Kirby said:—Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen.—We have just heard the Chairman, in his review of the Company's working for the past year, comment upon, among other matters, the practice of smuggling. Incidentally, this is the third occasion within recent weeks when the Chairman of local shipping companies has deemed this matter to be of such serious concern as to call for special reference being made to it in his address to shareholders.

Initially I can endorse the Chairman's remarks by reason of my close and almost daily contact with the shipping and preventive staffs and thereby I know that every human endeavour is sustained towards minimising the loss and inconvenience which is occasioned by this and other coastal and river companies activities of smugglers. You will also have doubtless read lately of the state of affairs in this respect which has manifested itself in North China and which is but an elementary sequel, as history has shown, in any country where there is a policy of high tariffs, thereby enhancing the lucrative possibilities attendant on the importation of surreptitious cargo and contraband.

Secondly, in the continued efforts to cope with smuggling, we are not dealing with a few scattered irresponsible individuals but with planned organisation which can and has brought into play the very potent factors of coercion, intimidation and even worse when successful opposition to their activities has resulted. The smugglers, through the dominant influence of those behind them, have, in two specific cases within my knowledge during the past eighteen months, been successful in having removed from their respective ships and in this Colony, two chief officers whose diligence in searching had led to the disclosure of the smugglers by detection of the unmanifested cargo and the handing of such over to the Chinese Maritime Customs. I just mention this in passing so that you will, in this connection, have a slight idea what the carrying out of standing orders and duty entails and also the strength of the forces with which both the companies and officers have to contend.

CUSTOMS ATTITUDE

I would now refer to another aspect of this problem on which the Chairman touched and that is the attitude of the Chinese Maritime Customs in holding the ship to account in respect of any unmanifested articles of cargo or stores found on board. The position is that, for example, should a stray parcel be discovered on board and unmanifested, the ship is liable to be fined in a fine of $200. It is not to be understood that article actually belonged to the ship and is considered by the Commissioners of Customs good and adequate reason for the imposition of a fine.

A more illogical and unreasonable dictum it is difficult to conceive, especially when it is taken into consideration that the vessel so fined may have just completed disembarkation of anything up to eight or nine hundred native passengers and anyone of whom may have been the actual owner of the property for which the ship was penalised. If that principle is to be accepted, then, by the same token, one cannot challenge the hypothesis of the occupant of a house being responsible for an abandoned child found on his doorstep. The position is so obviously absurd that it is constrained to wonder whether considered and serious thought was accorded to the framing of such an enactment or whether it was visualised for what it simply is, an additional source of income to the disadvantage of foreign shipping.

EVADES RESPONSIBILITY

The point that is seemingly deemed unworthy of note by the Chinese authorities is that the smuggler, in the event of him being advised by conferees (invariably close at hand) that circumstances are not propitious for getting his line of commodities immediately ashore, he can divert himself of any and all responsibility by the simple expedient of leaving such on the ship in a convenient spot, to be retrieved later when Customs officials are not in the vicinity. In any case, detection as a risk of the smuggler is practically non-existent; the unmanifested goods are either recovered later to his gain, or discovered by the Customs, to the ship's debit.

In general the position is becoming increasingly serious for both Companies and officers and I trust, Mr. Chairman, that the substance of the remarks I have made will be given due consideration in any further representations which may be deemed desirable on this matter to the Chinese Authorities.

The Chairman: Thank you Mr. Kirby. I can assure you that the Committee thoroughly appreciate the position.

OTHER BUSINESS

Mr. T. Ramsey proposed that Sir Robert Ho Tung, Mr. M. T. Johnson and Mr. H. J. Armstrong be re-elected to the Consulting Committee. Mr. Wong Ping-sun seconded and the motion was adopted.

Mr. Chu Wing-keu proposed the re-election of Messrs. Lowe, Bingham & Matthews, and Messrs. Linstead & Davis as auditors to the Company. Captain W. B. Patey seconded and the motion was adopted.

This concluded the business of the meeting.

There were present Messrs. S. T. Williamson (Chairman), M. T. Johnson, H. J. Armstrong (Consulting Committee), Chu Wing-keu, Wong Ping-sun, Hui Chau-man, W. B. Patey, T. Ramsey, J. F. Wright, P. C. Potts, W. E. Kirby (shareholders) and C. L. Farmer (Secretary).

When the mere name or sight of food nauseates you, it is a sure sign that your digestive organs are not functioning properly. Almost surely the eliminative tract has become congested with waste material, which condition, in turn, upsets the liver, and 'liverishness' has resulted.

The immediate need, in such circumstances, is to clear away this congestion with the aid of Pinkettes. These splendid little laxative liver pills gently, but surely, dispel constipation, tone up the liver, banish biliousness, nausea and sick headaches, revive digestion and appetite. After this to keep free from stomach, liver and bowel troubles, usually only an occasional dose of Pinkettes is required.

PRISONER DIES IN GAOL

RELAPSING FEVER VICTIM

A verdict of "Death from natural causes" was returned by the jury empanelled in the inquest, held by Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Magistracy this morning, into the death of Wong Sze, prisoner No. 5148, who died at the Victoria Gaol Hospital at 0.55 p.m. yesterday.

The jury consisted of Messrs. D. J. Fraser (foreman), J. P. Schlotter and Charles Young.

Mr. H. Barrett, Chief Warden of Victoria Gaol, said deceased was admitted to the gaol on May 18 last, having been sentenced to nine months' hard labour. On May 26, he was admitted to the Gaol Hospital, where he died at 0.55 p.m. yesterday.

Dr. G. H. Thomas, Acting Medical Officer at Victoria Gaol, stated that on May 26 prisoner was before him in the usual sick parade, and, seeing that he was looking poorly, he sent him to hospital. The prisoner was treated for influenza, while his blood was sent to the Government Bacteriological Institute for examination, which disclosed that the man was suffering from relapsing fever. He was then treated specifically for relapsing fever. His temperature went up to 105 degrees and he died at 9.55 p.m. on May 28.

Witness conducted the post mortem examination and found that the spleen and liver of the deceased were very much enlarged. There was a great deal of jaundice and there was also fluid in the abdomen and the heart sac. In his opinion, death was caused by relapsing fever.

Without retiring, the jury returned the verdict as stated.

IMPRISONMENT
Chinese opposition, expressed in the Legislative Council on Wednesday, against the increased powers being given to magistrates to impose imprisonment without the option of a fine for certain mu-tai offences, would not appear to rest on very convincing grounds. The Attorney General got down to bedrock when he pointed out that there is no intention that imprisonment should be inflicted in every case of breach of the Ordinance or regulations, magistrates being merely given the power to impose prison sentences in instances where they consider that the offence justifies such a step.
The extreme solicitude shown by the dissenters for visitors to the Colony who might be ignorant of the law was somewhat surprising; obviously, the law cannot take account of such ignorance. Maybe the opposition to the strengthening of the law rests more on the possible creation of a state of alarm amongst the local Chinese populace; if that be so, fears might be mollified somewhat if a period of grace, say one or two months, were given before the new powers are put into operation. However, it is not to be assumed that there will be unduly stringent application of the law right away. None the less, it is essential that registration requirements, on which the whole case for eventual abolition of the mu-tai system rests, should be fully enforced. It is somewhat of a coincidence that this question of imprisonment powers should come to the fore at a moment when our gaols are already overcrowded with prisoners, so much so that men undergoing sentences are being released almost daily before the expiration of their terms. This raises once again the general problem of the overcrowding of the Colony's prisons. It is clear that the main cause of this overcrowding is to be found in the constant sending of people to prison for minor, and really noncriminal, offences. Viewed from whatever standpoint, this practice is wholly unjustified; apart from other considerations, such as first offences, it is a most uneconomic business, involving the Colony in considerable cost, besides bringing the operation of the law into disrepute.
Another aspect of the question is to be found in the constant re-commitment to gaol of returned banished, who obviously have

NOTES OF THE DAY

Signor Mussolini is anxious for a rapprochement with Great Britain, so he says, but he is unwilling, or unable, to take the initiative in seeking a Mediterranean understanding as long as sanctions continue. Such a move might entail a technical admission of the justice of sanctions; and, in spite of everything, Signor Mussolini is unlikely to admit that the League of Nations action in penalising an aggressor was warranted. In fact, he probably does not consider Italy an aggressor nation. If Duce says that Britain must remove her warships from the Mediterranean before he removes his garrisons from Libya, for the presence of a British fleet in these waters is looked upon as a threat to Italy. Italy seems to forget that the British fleet commenced to concentrate in force only after Italy had started a war of conquest in country bordering upon three large and important British territories and the Empire's vital trade routes to the Far East. Italy forgets, or perhaps never realised, that the movement to the Mediterranean was defensive, that it has never been anything else, and that if the effect of the British Fleet's presence is anxiety in Italy, it is for Rome to remove the cause. Verbal assurances, moreover, do not convince anybody that their toes are not going to be stepped upon;
for such things can happen by accident. It is still Signor Mussolini's move.

no fear of such punishment. If these people are to be kept out of the Colony, more effective means than periodically clapping them into prison will have to be found, as one of our magistrates pointed out a few days ago.
There is, of course, a bigger issue involved in this matter, namely, the whole question of our banishment laws. But whatever the solution of these several points may be, it is perfectly clear that our prisons are being needlessly cluttered up with people who ought never to be in gaol at all. The whole problem, in all its ramifications, needs thoroughgoing investigation.

A BEACON ACROSS AN OCEAN

THE beam direction-finder which will guide Pan-American planes across the China Sea from Manila to Macao is ready.

THE secret of the regular flight of the "Clipper" machines across 8,000 miles of the Pacific Ocean from California to Manila with air mails each week lies in the invention of the radio compass.

This instrument, which guards an aircraft from the dangers of drifting off its course while flying over the ocean, is destined to play a big part in the development of trans-Atlantic aviation.

The radio compass is an instrument which is able to pick up bearings by wireless from distant stations. The stations give a bearing which helps to guide the pilot to his objective.

Hitherto ocean flyers have had to rely on celestial navigation—a difficult matter when flying at high speeds—radio communication with aircraft and vessels, and the sighting of ships at sea.

CELESTIAL observation obviously depends on a clear sky to take a "fix" from the sun or stars.

Radio-telephony is limited by the radius of the receiving set in the aircraft or of the station, and sighting of ships at sea is a chance method of checking position.
The radio compass solves all these difficulties.

In order to use it the pilot uses his wireless receiver to pick up the desired station. Any station sending out frequent signals can become the objective. The pilot tunes in until volume is at the maximum. Then he has merely to watch a needle on his instrument board which points to zero.
If the machine veers off its course the needle moves accordingly and provides a warning.

The pilot then corrects his course until the needle is back at zero. The machine will go directly to the radio station.

The apparatus can be adjusted to compensate for drift.
During the tests particular attention was paid to the range of reception; reception by day and night; at high altitudes; in clear air; and in fog and rain.

The radio compass is also able to pick up shore stations for bearings to determine the exact position of the aircraft.

OVER thousands of miles of ocean where beam winds, which may change during the flight, are experienced, drift cannot be checked by reference to charts. Cross bearings cannot be taken as no land stations are near enough.

Such flights as that of Ulm from California to Hawaii might not have ended in disaster had the machine been fitted with a radio compass.

The ocean stages of the Pacific route require a radio range of anything up to 1,800 miles. The powerful radio stations at Hawaii, Midway, Wake, the Guam Islands, Manila and Macao will enable the "Clipper" to face great ocean journeys without any risk of being blown off her course.

BRITAIN MAY BE SQUEEZED OUT IN FIGHT FOR SUPREMACY

1934 MOVES THAT COST COLONY POSITION AS GREATEST AIRPORT IN ORIENT

MACAO-HANOI FEEDER SERVICE TO CLOSE ROUND-WORLD GAP?

"Telegraph" Special Representative

AS A RESULT OF INVESTIGATIONS DURING THE PAST FORTNIGHT, I AM ABLE TO LIFT TO SOME EXTENT THE VEIL OF SECRECY SURROUNDING THE FIGHT BETWEEN THE BIG AIRWAY SERVICES OF THE WORLD TO OBTAIN CONTROL OF AIR TRANSPORT IN THE PACIFIC OCEAN.

America, Britain, Japan, Holland and France, the leading commercial aviation nations of the world, are contenders for supremacy in the southern hemisphere.

Had Hongkong been live-wire enough two or three years ago to realise the possibilities of commercial aviation, she may have become the greatest airport as well as the greatest seaport in the Pacific.

I am able to disclose that, as a result of the latest moves in the air transport "war," there is every possibility that this Colony, already isolated by the decision of Pan-American Airways to make Macao their Oriental terminus, may be entirely squeezed out of the proceedings.

Decision of Pan-American Airways to make Macao the Oriental terminus of its trans-Pacific service has already lost us the tremendous grip we could have secured had Hongkong become the terminal for all aerial traffic from the American continent.

No opposition line can compete with Pan-American Airways, because it is heavily and exclusively subsidised by the United States Government.

Chinese internal airways have hitherto declined to come to Hongkong, because the British Government demanded reciprocal landing rights for British planes before permitting Chinese planes to land here.

As a result, there is a distinct danger of Hongkong being further squeezed out of the aerial picture.

Important conferences have been proceeding in Hongkong during the past two days between Mr. H. M. Bixby, Far Eastern representative of Pan-American Airways, and Mr. N. K. Dai, Managing Director of the China National Aviation Corporation.

Both Mr. Bixby and Mr. Dai refuse to discuss the nature of these conferences.

I am given to understand, however, that there is every possibility that they will result in a working agreement between Pan American Airways and C.N.A.C., whereby C.N.A.C. planes will provide feeder services from all parts of China to Macao.

These services will ensure a direct link from all parts of North and South America to the whole of China now served by air transport. This would mean that passengers could travel from any part of the North and South American continents to Shanghai, Hankow, Nanking and Japan without touching Hongkong.

WOULD ISOLATE HONGKONG

Much more serious from the point of view of British interests is the fact that a Pan-American-C.N.A.C. agreement would mean that passengers could travel from America to Europe, via the Pacific, without touching British territory.

Trial runs have already been made by C.N.A.C. planes on a projected Shanghai-Hanoi service, linking with the existing French air Orient service to Marseilles. The fact that Canton provincial authorities have attempted to oppose this domestic service gives emphasis to the report that

C.N.A.C. intend to abandon Canton and make Macao their chief southern terminal.

The fact that Hongkong, instead of Canton or Macao, is not this terminal is almost certainly due to the fact that applications some time back by C.N.A.C. to obtain Hongkong landing permits were opposed by the British Government.

Work has been proceeding smoothly on the construction of Pan American Airways terminal at Macao, and this task has now been completed.

The radio direction finding apparatus, installation of which was recently completed, was given a local test this week, and is said to have functioned perfectly.

SERVICE TO MACAO SOON

This apparatus is for the purpose of guiding Pan American planes along the route from Manila to Macao. Similar directional beams are broadcast from Manila, Guam, Wake Island, Midway Island, Honolulu and Alameda on the California-Philippines route.

No definite date has yet been set for the inauguration of Pan American's service from Manila to Macao.

I am able to state, however, that the giant Clippers used on the California-Manila run will not be used. Smaller seaplanes, probably similar to those used by Pan American Airways on its South American services, will provide a feeder service.

There is every reason to believe that a test flight will be made during the first week in July. An experimental mail service will then be inaugurated, and, at the end of four weeks, passengers will be carried.

It is believed that the first regular passenger flight will be

EDUCATION REPORT

Fewer Children Went To British Schools Last Year BUT CHINESE KIDDIES CREATED A RECORD

A record number of 58,394 Chinese children attended school in Hongkong last year.

The number of attendants at English schools declined, however, from 18,036 to 17,086.

These figures are contained in the Annual Report for the Director of Education, released this week.

In the Report by the Inspectors of English Schools, it is disclosed that there was a decrease of 39 in the average attendance at Queen's College and a decrease of 133 in the average attendance at King's College.

the examinees passed, two scholarships being obtained tenable at Yaumati School.

Lack of a suitable playing field militates against organised games but, in spite of this, improvement has been shown in football.

The reports on each of the English Schools were as follows:

School	Enrollment	Average Attendance	Increase Since 1935	Decrease Since 1935
Queen's College	772	709	—	133
King's College	876	838	—	138
Yau Ma Tei School	278	258	—	20
Wan Chai School	279	253	—	26
Central British School	370	350	—	20
Kowloon Junior	110	97	—	13
Quarry Bay	77	68	—	9
Peak School	71	65	—	6

The reports on the various English Schools were as follows:

QUEEN'S COLLEGE

In the School Certificate Examination which was held in June, 93 per cent. of the candidates passed, nine with Honours. One student gained six distinctions including one of the very few given in Chinese, and was awarded a Government Education Scholarship tenable at the University of Hongkong.

At least 50 Old Boys are at various Universities and at the recent Hongkong University Congregation 7 former pupils received degrees.

KING'S COLLEGE

Fifty-seven boys sat for the School Certificate Examination and thirty-four passed, five of whom obtained Honours. Twenty-seven matriculated and distinctions were obtained. One King Edward Scholarship and three Government Education Scholarships were obtained.

The health of the school was fairly satisfactory although there were a considerable number of "eye" cases.

An Old Boys' Association was formed during the year.

ELLIS KADOORIE SCHOOL

The results of the annual examination were very satisfactory. Eighty per cent. of the boys who took the Class 4 examination passed and 90 per cent. of the boys from classes 5 to 8 were successful in gaining promotion.

YAUMATI SCHOOL

The examination results were good. In the external examination for class 4, out of 48 boys examined 41 passed, obtaining seven Government Scholarships.

WANTSAI SCHOOL

In the annual examination in class 4, 64 per cent. of the boys passed obtaining seven Government Scholarships and one Woo Hay Tong Scholarship. In classes 5 to 8, 84 per cent. were successful.

GAP ROAD SCHOOL

The examination results were very gratifying as over 91 per cent. passed this year as compared with 87 per cent. last year. The Past Pupils have done very well, five of those in Want sai School gaining scholarships to Queen's College and two gaining internal scholarships in Want sai School.

TAIPO SCHOOL

The examination results have been very good and nearly 80 per cent. of passed early in August, when passengers will also be carried on the existing trans-Pacific service, at present carrying mails only.

GOVERNOR'S INTEREST

H. E. the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, who has had experience in Malaya of the value of air facilities, is known to be very keen on developing such facilities here in Hongkong, and it would be a pity were his ambitions in this matter to meet with insurmountable difficulties as the result of British aviation policy in the past.

CENTRAL BRITISH SCHOOL

In the School Certificate Examination held in June, one candidate obtained Honours with distinction in English and three obtained passes with two distinctions in English. At the same time one past pupil obtained the Cambridge School Certificate with distinction in English and History.

As a result of organised games the standard of athletics has shown great improvement. Only one inter-school cricket match was lost, and football, hockey and net-ball have attained a higher standard.

The School Union has been very active throughout the year, lectures and debates being organised and senior pupils from other schools entertained.

KOWLOON JUNIOR SCHOOL

Twenty-three pupils have been promoted to the Central British School, and 14 passed the examination of the Royal Drawing Society held in June, seven obtaining honours.

A very successful drill display was given at the Y.M.C.A. The School team won the Net-ball challenge cup for Junior British Schools.

QUARRY BAY SCHOOL

The standard of written English has improved in the upper classes. A sale of work was held, the proceeds ($30) being donated to the Hongkong Society for the Protection of Children. Much hard work was willingly done for this cause by the Staff, pupils and former pupils.

The school is now a member of the Junior Net-ball League, and also played in friendly matches. Dancing, Drill, and games remain as popular as ever.

PEAK SCHOOL

Apart from a slight epidemic of measles in March the health of the school has been satisfactory. The high standard of work has been maintained and very good reports have been received of pupils who have gone on to other schools.

NEW SHIPS TO BE BUILT IN COLONY
DOCKYARD

Hongkong dockyards are shortly to be asked to tender for the construction of a new motor-ship for Messrs. Burns Philp & Company's inter-island trade in the South Seas.

Tenders may, I understand, be called for another ship at a later date.

It is proposed that the new vessel should be Diesel-engine equipped, and of approximately 1,000 tons.

The vessel will be used for trading between New Guinea and the hundreds of South Pacific islands at present served by the B.P. liners Montoro and Malatia.

Burns Philp & Company operate the steamer Neptuna on the Australia-Hongkong service, and the steamers Merkur and Marolla on the Australia-Singapore service.

The Merkur and Neptuna were formerly German liners.

Extracts From The "Telegraph" Files

The following extracts are from the Hongkong Telegraph for the week ended June 5, 1915.

The rate of the dollar on demand was 1s. 9.9/10d.

Major-General F. Ventris was appointed G.O.C. South China Command, in succession to Major-General Kelly.

Mr. R. N. Ohley retired from the firm of Tait and Co., Amoy, the business being carried on by Messrs. F. B. Marshall and William Wilson, as remaining partners.

Mr. H. R. B. Hancock was appointed Supernumerary Second Lieutenant in the Volunteer Reserve, and Captain G. K. Hall Bruton was appointed to act as Honorary Adjutant.

Local estate to the value of $34,800 was left by Mr. Amaro John Reed, Government pensioner, late of 8 Broadwood Road, who died at the above address on January 31, 1930.

Letters of administration to the estate have been granted to the widow, Maria Rita Reed.

Two-Day Meeting Ends Racing, Pro Tem

HOLIDAY CARNIVAL OF NINETEEN EVENTS

(By "Captain Foster")

The Whitsun Carnival, which is a two days' affair, will be the last meeting of the first half of the Hongkong Jockey Club's fixtures, but racing will be resumed after the recess in September. The first saddling bell will be rung to-morrow at 1.30 p.m., but on Whit-Monday the bell will be chimed at noon and the third event, Bondi Handicap for "A" class Australian Ponies, will be run at 2.30 p.m. There are nine races on the first day and ten on Monday.

Before commenting on the prospects of various ponies, I append below a list of the successes of the first five local jockeys since January 1—

	1st	2nd	3rd
Mr. H. C. Pih	14	10	9
Mr. L. G. Frost	11	8	5
Mr. L. H. G. Frost	10	15	9
Mr. N. Deitz	9	8	5
Mr. P. P. Botelho	6	5	8
Mr. Leo Frost	1	1	1

and with regret, we have to leave him out of the ranking. It will be seen that Mr. Pih leads the list with 14 wins, his nearest rival being Mr. Black with 10 races to his credit while Mr. Deitz is just behind. It would be interesting if any racing fan could predict what the position of the above mentioned jockeys would be after Whit-Monday. Mr. Pih has a good lead and it is not likely that he will lose his position.

With the absence of Able Amazon, Strathroy and Liberty Bay from the meeting, we may look forward to better finishes in the major events; in any case there is no denying that the first half of the racing season has had its thrills.

LANTAO SWEEP DRAW

The special $1 Cash Sweep on the Lantao Handicap over five furlongs for "D" class China Ponies to be run on the second day, which is the main feature of the Whitsun Meeting, will be drawn on Monday and I understand that over 45,000 tickets have already been sold. At the request of the Stewards, Mr. C. M. Alves, the Official Handicapper, has assigned the following ponies, namely: Double Chance, Emergency Call, Festival Eve, King's Parade, Philanderer, Popular Star, Sylvandale, Warrington and West Parrot, to run in the Lantao Handicap, but the allotment of the pounds will be announced on Sunday afternoon and being a sprint event, all have equal chances.

MY FANCY IS ROYAL SCOT

FOR THE OPENING EVENT

King's Warden holds the post of honor with 168 lbs. in the opening event, the May Handicap over a mile, and then comes Royal Scot with 10 lbs. less. The weight assigner has not forgotten his science of numbers; for Royal Scot, the winner of St. George's Plate, has been asked to concede nine pounds to Honey Blue Eve, the winner of the 1935 Blue Riband, and should the latter be taken out by a novice, the difference in weight will be exactly a stone. Royal Scot has also to give weights to Gladiator, Oak Day and Soldier of Britain, and she should score again after her smart display at the last meeting.

When these two crack-jockeys met in the Mount Parker Handicap, King's Warden was the victor, giving 10 lbs. to Royal Scot, who finished fourth, but, the latter has now a pull of 10 lbs. and King's Warden will have to show his best to win. It was once considered that Royal Scot was a distance pony, but after her convincing win in the Shing Mun Handicap over six furlongs, she must be rated "A1" over any journey.

I am not, at this juncture, belittling Mr. Harriman's riding or trying to set his house in order, but Royal Scot goes better with Mr. Deitz than the owner and I would like to see the grey mare given another chance with the same jockey, just to test her against King's Warden who runs well with Mr. G. Ross's long legs. Mr. Harriman rides with short stirrups but Mr. Deitz prefers the old fashion and the long stirrup has been recognized by the old timers as the best for China Ponies. My fancy is Royal Scot with Mr. Deitz up.

SEVEN MODERATE RUNNERS

For Warwick Farm Handicap

The Warwick Farm Handicap for "A" class Australian ponies over six furlongs has attracted seven moderate runners and all have been jointly treated on the handicap. It has not been unusual to see this range of weights from 105 lbs. to 135 lbs., and the adjustment of the pounds to a limit of 10 lbs. difference does not leave any loophole for spotting the winner.

Five ponies have been allotted on the basis of 155 lbs., the lowest being Australian Boy with only 145 lbs. to carry. With the exception of Double Finesse, all others have, this season, made their acquaintances with the judges and it is worth noting that Holman Star is the present track holder of six furlongs. We have several speedy merchants and I am sure that it will be the best race of the afternoon.

Electron has been named for the honour owing to his recent performances, especially when he won the Callaghan Handicap over a mile in very good time. It must be remembered that, apart from the fast going, Electron was in receipt of a stone from Shooting Star, whereas to-morrow the latter is better off by five pounds and this must be considered.

Then what about Derby Day? She gave a sparkling display when she won the New Bridge Handicap over five furlongs at the Easter Meeting and Electron was conceding her a pound short of a stone, but, to-morrow they are on level terms. Derby Day will not have the same jockey, as Mr. Raymond Pih will weigh out on his own cob, Double Finesse, last Saturday she was given a sharp spin over a mile and she journeyed the circuit in 1.55.4/5. It was not possible to discover what weight she had on her back but believe it or not, Double Finesse was not "all out" and she certainly has my vote for $5 each way.

Test For "B" Class Ponies

TO-MORROW'S NEW COURSE

At the last meeting, the "B" class China Ponies had a sprint test over five furlongs whereas to-morrow the course of the Lead-Mile Handicap is from the two mile post, once round and in. A comparison of the weights in the High West Handicap over 1 1/2 miles run on May 2 and what they are set to carry to-morrow will give you an idea of the handicapper's distribution of the lead:

	High Lead	Mile Difference
King's Justice	155	124

King's Lead	108	124
King's Lead	107	124
King's Lead	106	124
King's Lead	105	124

It will be remembered that the result of the High West Handicap found the field well strung out. Excepting King's Justice who has been penalised four pounds, all others have been penalised one pound, and Bright View, Jungle Jim and King's Jubilee should be dangerous owing to the low impost. The distance of the event is to the liking of Sadio and Rose-Queen, and at the time of writing I cannot make up my mind which pony is in better form. King's Lead has been left alone and he has a good outside chance. Bear Claw, who unsent Mr. Black in the High West Handicap, is still on the walking list.

Good Field

FOR THE CUSTOMS HANDICAP

In the Customs Handicap (first section) for "C" class China ponies over five furlongs, a good field is almost certain and we should see a smart race between Boalot Bay, Dawn Star, Harvest View, King's Bounty, New Star and Pontiac Bay.

On a firm going, I cannot nominate any pony to beat King's Bounty and it will be recalled that he was a first class sprinter in his prime. It is not to be overlooked that he raced here as a griffin in 1930 and he established a track record of 1.10.4/5 for five furlongs on February 20, 1932. My next fancy is Dawn Star and Pontiac Bay. I have left Ribble out of the reckoning as he is a distance pony but New Star is dangerous, and likely to upset the apple-cart.

DEPOSED AS FAVOURITE
BUT HE IS STILL THERE

Jim Ferrier, twenty-one years old Australian golfer, who is no longer regarded as a favourite, or the British Amateur Open title, but has survived until the last eight (to-day he meets Morton Dykes of Scotland to fight of entering the semi-final. Ferrier is well known in the Far East having formerly in Shanghai.

Ferrier Still Going Strong

BUT THOMSON NOW FAVOURITE FOR BRITISH GOLF TITLE

St. Andrew's, May 28. The draw for the last eight in the British Amateur Open Golf Championship made to-day resulted as follows:

Thomson has deposed Ferrier as favourite in view of his amazing performances to date. He has played 48 holes in 167 strokes which average even strokes per hole. Jones's performance in this event. He did not lose a single hole in winning his fifth round match.

Outstanding fifth round results were: Ewing beat Roger Welbourn two up, Gordon Peters beat Harry Bentley, the Walker Cup player, 2 and 1, Robert Sweeney, ex-Oxford Blue, beat Eastgate Storey, Walker Cup player, 2 and 1.

There were no surprises in the sixth round although Sweeney took Ferrier to the 21st before conceding the match. —Reuter.

REAL PROBLEM

THE CUSTOMS H'C/P FOR "C" PONIES

AMBERLEY MAY SCORE

With the inclusion of Amberley and Laughing Girl in the Customs Handicap (second section) for "C" class China ponies over five furlongs, spotting the winner is a real problem. We are sure of a good one, naturally the draw is an important factor. We all know the reputation of What A Chance for a sprint race, but he will have to strike his best form to state off the challenge of Amberley, King's Sceptre and Laughing Girl. What a chance showed us his true colours in the Fatsian Handicap run on April 11 when he finished ahead of a mediocre field, whereas to-morrow he has to meet some speedy roadsters.

If Amberley and Laughing Girl can reproduce the same form when they were second and third respectively in the Sugar Loaf Handicap at the Easter meeting, they should have no difficulty in passing the wire in that order.

Prior to every meeting, there are "try-outs" sensations. Some tryouts are informative and some are deceptive for they do not know what weights have been carried. However, the Saturday King's Sceptre galloped a mile in 2.10.1/5 and he finished gamely. The last quarter was negotiated in 30 seconds and the last half of the mile cantered in 1.01.4/5, which was undoubtedly a grand performance. Under the circumstances, I cannot see anything to out King's Sceptre for the first honour.

WHY PAY UP RAN SO BADLY

SUFFERING FROM SORE FOOT

London, May 28. The Derby favourite, Pay Up's display which astonished its connections, was due to lameness which was revealed to-day.

The colt was very lame last night and could hardly move across its box. The off fore foot was very hot and suffering from the result of a severe injury. The shoe was removed and the foot poulticed. A decided improvement was noted to-day.

The Control Board has announced that the dividend payable for forfeiting the first and second horses in the Derby was £22-18s-0d. The units, which started at 2/6, increased to five shillings and ten shillings when nearing the race. —Reuter.

STRUCK BY GOLF BALL IN TRAIN

Injured Passenger's Collapse

As a Hounslow-bound train was passing Wyke Green Golf Course, Osterley, which adjoins the Piccadilly line, passengers heard the noise of breaking glass and saw Mr. C. H. Short, of Berkeley Avenue, Cranford, fall forward, bleeding from the face.

He had been struck by a golf ball that crashed through the window.

Alighting at Osterley Station Mr. Short collapsed and was taken to hospital. After treatment he was able to go home.

"This is the first we have heard of the incident," an official at the Wyke Green club told the News Chronicle later.

River has the best claim to present his card. Although Rose-Arm is nicely treated, too much confidence cannot be placed on this mare as she is certainly a moody lady and I am afraid that I must pass Centre Court in favour of Halcyon.

Centre Court lacks stamina while the back of form shows that her sister Derby Day has not as yet won a race over six furlongs. The race is over the champion course and is (Continued on Page 9.)

Kowloon Cricket Club's Achievements

The Return Of R. Abbit

Although reports, upon which was based yesterday's announcement in the Telegraph that R. Abbit's contributions would be suspended indefinitely, indicated that our popular cricket commentator was not sufficiently recovered from his illness to resume his articles for some time, yesterday evening's delivery of correspondence produced a full length contribution.

It was written from his bedside in the hospital and deals fully with the achievements of the Kowloon Cricket Club, last season's champions of the league.

FOUR BATSMEN AND TWO BOWLERS WIN THE SHIELD

(By R. Abbit)

The gap in my series of reviews of the past season's teams has been regrettable but I can only assure my readers that one does not argue with influenza any more than with an umpire—less in fact! And even this article is being written in bed. And it is owing to the fact that I have not been able to get even as far as a telephone for the past week, that I have not acknowledged the figures which my good friend Mr. Frank Goodwin was kind enough to send me.

It was with great interest that I went through the Kowloon Cricket Club's figures, and I found there borne out the point that I have made before about the first eleven and that is that their success in the Shield is due in a great measure to six people only—two bowlers and four batsmen—though there was a competent balance of talent which made the batsmen's task easier; and by that I mean that the other seven members of the team, besides the two Finchers, Mackay, and Arthur Lay, had enough batting among them to be able to fight a stout rear-guard action. Thus the shock troops could take chances without feeling that they would lose the match with their wickets.

THEIR WIN

The K.C.C. victory was unexpected in a way, but the fact is that from a poor start in non-league games and a quiet start in the League itself, they definitely improved all through the season, and by January or so were playing in the form that had distinguished them three or four seasons ago. On the other hand a good many teams, notably the I.R.C. and the Club, rather sagged away. As things turned out, the K.C.C. only dropped four points when they drew a couple of games. The remaining five they won outright.

Their cricket was well adapted to the League conditions. Their batsmen were mostly of the quick-scoring type, while their bowlers did get wickets, if not at amazingly small cost! Some excellent catches were made, though on the whole it must be admitted that improvement in this department could have been shown.

THE BATTING

A glance at the League Batting averages will show that of a total of nine hundred and fifty-six runs, no less than eight hundred and six were made by the four batsmen I have mentioned. The actual averages are a good deal affected by "not out" innings, but if one were to disregard these, the only alteration would be to bring E. F. below E. C. Fincher and the averages would read 35, 32, 25 and 23 respectively. It is true that they accounted for most of the runs but it will be noted that the others did not have to bat so often—and often had to get runs or get out! The figures are as follows:

K.C.C. 1ST XI.	Not Out	Out	Runs	Aver.
N. A. E. Mackay	7	2	44	48.80
E. C. Fincher	7	2	44	48.80

MIDDLESEX AND DERBYSHIRE Win Easily

London, May 28. Middlesex and Derbyshire scored very easy victories in the county cricket championship to-day, Middlesex beating Somerset by an innings and 99 runs, and Derbyshire winning by ten wickets against Gloucestershire.

Somerset had two bad spells at the wicket. In their first innings they were dismissed for 145 and in their second for 162.

Middlesex scored with much greater freedom. "Patsy" Hendren compiling 134 which materially helped in making the Middlesex total up to 396.

The Derby v. Gloucester match produced some unusually low scoring Gloucestershire aggregated 104 in their first attempt to which Derby replied with 193, Sindford taking 7 for 56. Baking a second time Gloucestershire fared ill against the deliveries of Mitchell (5 for 40) and were all out for 123. Derbyshire hit off the required 95 runs without loss. —Reuter.

TO-DAY'S TENNIS

"D" Division Season Starts

Rain yesterday ruined the league tennis and lawn bowls championship programmes and weather indications at the time of writing are not at all favourable towards to-day's schedule of tennis matches.

Eight of the nine "D" Division teams are engaged, and as the C.R.C. are not competing, this year, prospects are very open. Radio Sports Club, who finished runners-up last summer have every reason to feel confident of improving upon this, while the possibilities of K.C.C., I.R.C., K.T.C. and S.C.A.A. finishing champions cannot be ignored.

Radio Sports Club do not open their programme until next week. To-day's matches are as follows.

P.R.C.	v. I.R.C.
K.T.C.	v. A.T.C.
C.C.C.	v. K.C.C.

The Sports Editor,
Hongkong Telegraph.

Sir:—I should like to briefly reply to Mr. Mackenzie's letter of yesterday. The issue was, one between "Veritas" and "myself." Should any of my remarks have appeared disparaging to Mr. Mackenzie or Miss Mackenzie (because such was not my intention) I unreservedly apologise. The remark—"Opinions—when aired through the columns of the press are sometimes convey more than a mere opinion"—had no intention of subtlety. Readers of newspapers are apt to accept articles published as being facts—or at least correct in substance—and it was to this I referred.

Yours truly,
"Satirov"

GORDON LUM "LOST" IN RAILWAY SIDING

GORDON LUM, the Australian-born Chinese tennis player and a member of the Chinese Davis Cup team, was nearly carried back to London in the train in which he travelled to Harrogate for the tennis tournament one day this month.

He was so engrossed in a book that he did not notice that the train had emptied of passengers or that it had been

shunted into a siding a mile away from the station.

Friends at the station learned that he had been seen on the train, and Lum was "rescued" he was found still peacefully reading—and arrived at the tournament ground in time to meet P. R. T. Garnett.

He proceeded to beat Garnett in the easiest of fashions—"I too easily," according to Lum quotes Stanley N. Doust in the Daily Mail. The well-known critic goes on to "express opinion that Lum is a player without a weakness."

Summer CAN'T LAST for Ever

... even in Kashmir, Garden of India. But this romantic story tells of the Summer of Love, which can last for ever!

—By MARGARET FERGUSON

CHAPTER III

The light of the full moon, white as ivory, delicately patterned as old lace, lay over the lawns of the Shalimar garden in Kashmir. Water flowing down a wide, shallow, white marble channel made a strip of sequin-bright sparkle; nightingales sang in the heavy trees, the warm air was perfumed with roses. It was a paradise of peace and loveliness, especially to a man tired after long months of fiendishly hot service on the Indian Frontier.

Christy Maradick lay stretched on his back under one of the giant chinara trees, and sleepily watched the moonlight flicker through the myriad leaves.

It was heaven to breathe such cool, pure air, to feel the moisture of dew on his sunburnt face.

For five months his regiment had frizzled and scorched in the bare Frontier hills, and he had had malaria, so badly at last that he had been packed off forthwith on two months' leave to Kashmir. And here he was, still with six long, idle weeks to go.

But was he looking forward to them so ardently, he wondered, as he rolled over and lit a cigarette. He had been up here over a fortnight now, for the first week camping in the hills, for the second living in a tiny matting house-beat moored on the Dhal Lake. During this week he had scarcely spoken to a soul. Singapur was rather empty just now; most people had gone off to Gullberg for coolness. He didn't know any one at all and being a shy young man who wasn't feeling too strong on lively just yet, carefully avoided all social endeavours. That certainly made for peace—but couldn't prevent loneliness after a time.

He spent the days floating about in a shikara, fishing or sketching, and the nights sleeping on the tiny square of deck on his boat, and certainly health was flowing back into his dried body. In fact he was beginning to feel a bit restless and bored with his own society, to think that he'd like someone to talk to and do things with without being dragged into the noise and gaieties of a certain clique of rather wild young people who dined about everlastingly, motoring, bathing, moonlight picnicking, and dancing with the maximum of noise and excitement. They had been out here to-night and he had taken care to keep well out of sight while they played gramophones and banjos.

She was barefooted and her toes twinkled over the soft grass like little white feathers as she whirled faster and faster to the hurrying beat of the music. And then suddenly her foot must have caught in something on the grass, for she tripped, swayed in the air and fell full length at the same moment as the music stopped abruptly with the click and whirr of a gramophone that has run down. So she wasn't a ghost, she was human and real—and she looked as though she might have damaged her ankle by that fall.

Christy ran down the steps and across the grass to her side, where she sat slowly rubbing her ankle, her lip caught between her small white teeth in an expression of pain.

danced and hurled cushions at each other, and did their best to drown the ripple of running water and the liquid notes of the nightingales. But it was very late now, late enough even to have sent them all home to their families and the moonlight garden was left alone with its roses and moonlight.

Christy lit another cigarette and drifted off into another doze.

He was awakened from it by a sound that at first was woven into the fabric of his dreams, a faint, sweet sound of music. It didn't seem strange, somehow, to hear it floating through the garden, but perfectly natural; it was a fairytale sort of night, on which anything might happen. Yet, of course, there must be some ordinary reason for it, and when he was fully awake and sat up, picking daisies and looking about him with curiosity, Music it certainly was, a sweet, haunting refrain played on muted violins, and it seemed to be drifting up from the lower terrace of the garden.

Cautiously, then, he went to the edge of the wide, shallow, marble stairs and looked down on them—and saw a sight that made him catch his breath and wonder if he really was perhaps haunted by ghosts.

Down there on the wide space of grass a girl was dancing by herself to the music that seemed to come from nowhere.

She was small and slight, and light as air, dressed in a very simple, soft white frock that floated out round her, and her thick, curly hair that looked bright copper even in the moonlight, almost touched her shoulders.

She was barefooted and her toes twinkled over the soft grass like little white feathers as she whirled faster and faster to the hurrying beat of the music. And then suddenly her foot must have caught in something on the grass, for she tripped, swayed in the air and fell full length at the same moment as the music stopped abruptly with the click and whirr of a gramophone that has run down. So she wasn't a ghost, she was human and real—and she looked as though she might have damaged her ankle by that fall.

Christy ran down the steps and across the grass to her side, where she sat slowly rubbing her ankle, her lip caught between her small white teeth in an expression of pain.

"Thank you, And I'm—" then she stopped suddenly, tilted back her head and looked at him, her lashes lowered mysteriously. "Who do you think I am?" She never knew what made her say that—afterwards, when she thought about it, it sounded so ridiculously melodramatic. "What do you think?"

"You?" He looked at her gravely. "Yes. Would you think I was a— a nursery governess or a secretary?"

"You?" He gave a sudden shout of laughter. "Can't believe that you're fresh and blood even now. A secretary! No, you're a dancer, aren't you? A Russian ballerina, perhaps. At any rate one of the loveliest dancers that ever whirled about a stage."

ST. LOUIS AGAIN IN LEAD

YANKEES GO AHEAD

New York, May 28. The New York Giants lost a double-header to Boston to-day and dropped out of the tie with St. Louis at the top of the League. However, St. Louis also lost, so the margin of difference is not great.

Boston's Braves noted the Giants out of both decisions by the run. In the first they scored four to three, on twelve hits. The Giants hit nine times and each team had an error. In the second Boston hit fourteen, one of them a homer by Berger, but the Giants held them to five tallies. Moreover, Boston had four errors. But New York was only able to hit seven and scored four runs out of it, including Rippe's homer.

The Cubs trounced Cincinnati eleven to four. Chicago only had ten hits, but Hack and Hartnett homered. The Reds hit six. Brooklyn Dodgers hit twenty and scored thirteen runs, one of them a homer by Bordagany and Bucher, when they played the Phillies. The Phillies, too, were far from idle. They smacked out sixteen hits and gained ten runs. J. Moore and Grace hit circuit clouts. There were five errors, the Phillies taking the honours with three.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who undeservedly go into first place again, lost to Pittsburgh, seven to two. The Pirates drove them to the tune of fifteen hits. Each had an error.

YANKEES WIN

The Yankees drew further ahead of their nearest League rivals, the Boston Red Sox, by beating them soundly, ten to six. The Yankees scored in eight hits. Boston hit thirteen but could not profit by them. They had two errors.

His honor turned the tables on the unfortunate St. Louis Browns, who were beaten by Cleveland, six to five. St. Louis hit nine to the Indians eight, and Cleveland had three errors.

The Detroit Tigers, last year's champions, were also routed. Chicago beat them six to five, Hayes hitting a homer. Goslin homered for the Tigers. The Sox had thirteen hits.

Washington scored a five to nothing win over the Athletics, hitting seven and allowing only five to the Philadelphia. Reuter.

KING HOST TO AMERICANS

SOCIAL HISTORY MADE AT DINNER

London, May 28. His Majesty the King was host last night at a dinner making social history.

King's guests included Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister, Colonel Charles Lindbergh, the famous aviator, Sir Ernie Chatfield, Lord Louis Mountbatten, Lord Wigram, Sir Alfred Duff Cooper, and their wives, and Lady Curzon, American-born widow of the shipping magnate.

There were other Americans present. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Simpson, the latter a native of Baltimore, Maryland, and the Hon. Mr. and Mrs. Piers Lough, the former a King's quarry, the latter a native of Nashville, Tennessee, were other guests. United Press.

HUNDRED ATTACK FOUR MEN

SERIOUS GANG FIGHT AT BAY VIEW

ALL OVER A KISS

A woman was the cause of a gang fight in Chun Yung Street, Bay View District, last night, in which over a hundred men attacked four washermen, who were badly beaten before the police intervened. Four arrests were made.

A sequel was the appearance before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, of four men, Shum Kwong-chung, 32, Tsui Shu-him, 31, Sung Wing-chuen, 30, and Cheng Po-ching, 30, coolies employed by the Hongkong Electric Company, charged with having assaulted Wong Yuen-chun, Cheung Sang, Li Chor-chuen and Chau Sang, washermen.

Acting Sub-Inspector Madgwick said it was a big gang fight. About a hundred men attacked the complainants. It appeared that yesterday morning the wife of the first defendant went to Chun Yung Street to make some purchases and accused one of the complainants of having used abusive language towards her. There was a quarrel, and when she was walking away, she was heard to remark that she would bring a gang to beat the complainants up. She apparently carried out her threat last night.

SERIOUS AFFAIR

It was a very serious affair, and had not the police arrived on the scene, might have assumed more serious proportions. The four complainants were all injured, three of them seriously.

"TELEGRAPH" ART SUPPLEMENT

To-morrow's Picture Features

Many topical illustrations will appear in to-morrow's issue of the Telegraph Pictorial Supplement.

The Boy Scout banner rally will be illustrated, as also will be the inspection of the St. John Ambulance Brigade by Mr. Aw Boon-haw, and the laying of the cornerstone of the new Maryknoll Mission Convent School by H.E. the Governor.

Other events illustrated will be the Empire Day service at the Cathedral and the spring festival at the Quarry Bay School.

Groups will appear of a farewell dinner given by students of May Hall to their Warden, Mr. A. B. Reynolds, and of a dinner given to members of the Youngsters' Moral Association of the Hop Yee Church. The wedding of Mr. Chau Sing-kau and Miss Stella Fung will also be illustrated.

There will be the popular entertainment and feature pages, results of last week's Children's Competition and details of a new contest for the kiddies.

them badly. One of them was rendered unconscious for a long time by a blow with a bamboo in his stomach. Another had his nose broken. None of the defendants was hit. Bamboo poles and stools were used. The defendants all came across from Ming Yuen Gardens.

First defendant stated that his wife went yesterday morning to buy vegetables, when one of the complainants threw his arms around her and kissed her.

Mr. Schofield remarked they should not have taken the law into their own hands. They should have taken legal action instead of bringing a band of roughs to attack the complainants.

Each defendant was ordered to pay each complainant $10, arrears, or, in default, serve three weeks' hard labour, and they were sentenced to two months' hard labour each in addition.

Melbourne, May 28. The Japanese are alarmed by the new Australian tariff regulations, and the Japanese Consul here has lodged a protest with Sir Henry Gullett, who is the sponsor of the new tariff laws.

ABOLISHING SENATE

IRISH FREE STATE REFORMS

Dublin, May 28. Mr. Eamon De Valera's motion to abolish the Irish Free State Senate was carried in the Dail to-day, 74 to 52.

Mr. De Valera said he hoped to introduce a measure outlining the new constitution in the autumn. Reuter.

GOVERNMENT CONCERN

Paris, May 28. The "stay in" strike movement, in which hundreds of workers stay in the factories, with bedding and food brought by their wives and children, but refuse to work, is spreading fast in the engineering works of France.

A number of large firms are affected, notably the Renault factory, largest motor car and war material plant in France, where 3,000 workers are participating in the movement.

M. Albert Sarraut, the Prime Minister, is most concerned with the situation. Many conferences were held to-day at the Ministry of the Interior and at the Presidency.

While some deputies regard the strike as an attempt of Communists to embarrass the Socialist Government, Socialist circles deny the movement is in any way revolutionary, and declare it is intended to prevent a lock-out, pending a settlement of the men's claims to increased wages and better working conditions. Reuter Special.

REGRETS NEW EXPENDITURE

BUT BRITAIN MUST HAVE FLEET

London, May 28. In the debate of the supplementary estimate of £10,300,000 for a new programme of naval construction, in the House of Commons this evening, Lord Stanley, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, said he shared the Opposition's regret at the necessity for this very considerable increase in naval expenditure and at the fact that the incessant efforts made by every British Government since the War to get an agreed limitation of armaments had not been more successful.

On the question of battleships, Lord Stanley said he could only repeat they were not building against any single country, but it has been proved by the mere fact that Germany, France and Italy were all building battleships that the day of battleships was not over and it was essential to start as early as possible in replacing the rapidly aging British battle fleets. British Wireless.

NEW BILL TO BE REDRAFTED

London, May 28. An announcement arising out of the decision of the Government last Monday week, not to go to a division on the second reading of the Coal Mines Bill after the opposition developed on both sides of the House to amendments which the Government indicated it would introduce in the committee stage, was made by the Prime Minister in the House of Commons this evening.

Mr. Baldwin said the Government held by the principles of the Bill, but had decided it must be postponed till the autumn, as sufficient time was not available after recess in the heavy Parliamentary time-table. The Government would make use of the interval to redraft the Bill, which would include the changes announced in the debate on the second reading. Reuter Bulletin Service.

AUTONOMY IN INDIA

PAPERS EXPRESS SATISFACTION

London, May 28. Newspapers, in comment on the draft Orders-in-Council under the Government of India Act, issued yesterday, express satisfaction that it has been possible to fix April 1, 1937, as the date for the setting up of the system of provincial autonomy in eleven British Indian provinces and for the separation of Burma.

This decision has been facilitated by the Government's adoption of the report of Sir Otto Niemeyer on the allocation of certain revenues between the central and provincial Governments. The draft orders will be considered by Parliament shortly after the Whitsuntide recess. British Wireless.

N. T. AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION

GENEROUS GIFT OF BUILDING

By the generous gift of Mr. J. E. Joseph, who is well-known for his many contributions to various charitable institutions, the New Territories Agricultural Association is now promised a suitable building for its offices, educational efforts and other activities experimental and practical. Mr. Joseph has been greatly interested in agricultural progress for many years, and finding the Association in need of a suitable headquarters, himself very kindly offered to present a building, and purchased a site for its erection.

This munificent gift will help forward the work of the Association very greatly, and it is a welcome encouragement to those who have patiently persevered in the work of trying to promote co-operation amongst the peasant farmers, and to better their lot in life.

This building has been well designed and will be an outstanding feature of the landscape on the New Territory Road where it passes the Fanling Railway Station. It will be a monument to prove the generosity of one of the public benefactors in this Colony.

The work will be begun as soon as the plans are passed by the Government.

ARMY OFFICER FINED

TRAFFIC SIGNAL DISOBEYED

A fine of $8 was imposed on Lieut. Adams, of the Punjab Regiment, by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, when admitted a summons of disobeying traffic signal at the junction of Nathan and Salisbury Roads, driving private car No. 638 on May 28.

Acting Sub-Inspector Brittain stated that defendant was driving along Salisbury Road from the direction of the ferry, and a car driven by a Mr. Brett was coming from the opposite direction. The light was not carried on, a collision would have occurred.

Mrs. J. M. Jock, driver of private car No. 4322, was summoned for causing an obstruction with her car in Nathan Road on May 5.

Traffic Sergeant Bendall stated that a car was parked four feet from the kerb, and defendant parked her car three feet on the outside of the other car. To the rear, about 15 ft away, were P.W.D. barriers which were repelling a drain. The car was ample room for defendant's car to park behind the other car. A fine of $3 was imposed.
